

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

The Japanese American News

THE LARGEST JAPANESE DAILY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED OUTSIDE OF JAPAN
FOUNDED IN 1899
K. AIBIKO, PUBLISHER AND EDITOR
650 ELLIS STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POST OFFICE AT SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
SUBSCRIPTION RATES
IN ADVANCE
ONE YEAR—$11.00 SIX MONTHS—$5.50 ONE MONTH—$1.00 SINGLE COPY—5 CENTS

GLIMPSES OF JAPANESE HISTORY

Ieyasu's Edict

In accounts given by Will Adams of his frequent conversations with "the old Emperor," it becomes perfectly clear that while Ieyasu, like Hideyoshi before him, was eager to carry on trade with "the great ships" from Macao and Manila, he was gradually and reluctantly forced to conclude that unless he expelled the Portuguese and Spanish from Japan, Japan would become but another star in the now doubled crown of Spain; the Portuguese crown having been annexed in 1580. So strong, however, was Ieyasu's desire for foreign trade that he did not reach this decision until after he had heard reports from such envoys as those despatched to Rome before his rule, and from others sent later. These envoys reported that while they were splendidly, even gorgeously, entertained, the "Vicar of Christ on Earth" claimed universal dominion over his subjects, no matter to what state they might profess allegiance; and that the incautious boast of the Spanish sea-captain, which had so alarmed Hideyoshi, expressed the exact truth. "The old Emperor" finally issued an edict of which a few citations serve to show the tenor:

The Kirishitan band have come to Japan, not only sending their merchant-vessels to exchange commodities, but also longing to disseminate an evil law, to overthrow right doctrine, so that they may change the government of the country, and obtain possession of the land. This is the germ of great disaster, and must be crushed.

Japan is the Country of the Gods and of the Buddha: it honors the (Shinto) gods, and reveres the Buddha.—The faction of the Padres disbelieve in "the Way of the Gods" and blaspheme the true law, violate right-doing, and injure the good.—They truly are the enemies of the gods and of the Buddha.—If this be not speedily prohibited, the safety of the State will assuredly hereafter be imperiled; and if those who are charged with ordering its affairs do not put a stop to the evil, they will expose themselves to Heaven's rebuke.

These (padres) must be instantly swept out, so that not an inch of soil remains to them in Japan on which to plant their feet; and if they refuse to obey this command, they shall suffer the penalty.—Let Heaven and the Four Seas hear this! Obey!

But the padres did not obey. "Suffering or even death counted for nothing with these men as against the possibility of saving souls," as even their enemies admit.

The early death of Ieyasu prevented his enforcement of this edict of 1614. During the entire sixteen years of his control of Japan not a single missionary suffered persecution.

Watch for the "stupendous spectacle" at the Oakland Y. W. C. A., February 27.

SAN FRANCISCO STUDENTS

Ieyasu's Edict

A mass meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Japanese Students' Christian Association was held Friday evening, January 15. About forty students of the Bay section attended. Mr. Raymond Nagayama of U. C. presided.

The first speaker was Miss Toyo Domoto of Mills College. She spoke on "The Second-generation Problems." Her chief emphasis lay upon the need of an employment bureau and scholarship funds for the second-generation. She also gave concrete suggestions for the solution of problems arising from the misunderstanding between the first and the second generations. Among the things suggested were a study of the Japanese language; group meetings, to be attended by both the younger and the elder generations; and parents' and children's banquets.

The next speaker was Mr. Kazuo Kawai of Stanford, who dealt principally with the business transacted at the Asilomar Conference. Among the things accomplished was the creation of a field council for the Western Division of the J. S. C. A.

Mr. Walter Tsukamoto of the University of California spoke next upon impressions gained from the last Asilomar Convention of the University Y. M. C. A. His chief emphasis lay upon the international character of the Convention.

Vocal selections by the J. S. C. A. quartet were rendered, accompanied by Miss Sumire Morishita of Berkeley. This quartet is composed of Mr. Walter Tsukamoto, Miss Sada Onouye, Mr. Henry Takahashi, and Miss Tomoye Kasai.

The main speaker was next introduced. Dr. Akagi, field secretary of the J. S. C. A., began his address by stating that the J. S. C. A. movement does not conflict with the various Japanese churches conducting young people's devotional meetings. These two groups should co-operate rather than be antagonistic to each other. The main portion of Dr. Akagi's speech dealt with an explanation of the J. S. C. A. movement and its relation to the development of sterling Christian character among students.

At the conclusion of Dr. Akagi's address, a short business meeting was held. The meeting disbanded at eleven o'clock.

THE SOUTHERN TOUR

The following members of the U. C. Japanese Basketball team made the triumphant tour through the south recently, winning four games out of four played.

The men that made the trip south were "Ak" Hayashi (mgr.), "Lightin" Bepp (capt.), "Kat" Iki, "Phantom" Domoto, "Spec" Ueyama, "Tet" Ishimaru, "Flash" Iino, "Babe" Moriwaki, "Norm" Kobayashi, "Hen" Takahashi.

These (padres) must be instantly swept out, so that not an inch of soil remains to them in Japan on which to plant their feet; and if they refuse to obey this command, they shall suffer the penalty.—Let Heaven and the Four Seas hear this! Obey!

But the padres did not obey. "Suffering or even death counted for nothing with these men as against the possibility of saving souls," as even their enemies admit.

The early death of Ieyasu prevented his enforcement of this edict of 1614. During the entire sixteen years of his control of Japan not a single missionary suffered persecution.

Watch for the "stupendous spectacle" at the Oakland Y. W. C. A., February 27.

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

大問題である。中西部の農業に所調コロナ病は重い。農民問題は共産黨に三つては重い。

The Japanese American News

THE LARGEST JAPANESE DAILY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED OUTSIDE OF JAPAN
FOUNDED IN 1899
K. AIBIKO, PUBLISHER AND EDITOR
650 ELLIS STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POST OFFICE AT SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
SUBSCRIPTION RATES
IN ADVANCE
ONE YEAR—$11.00 SIX MONTHS—$5.50 ONE MONTH—$1.00 SINGLE COPY—5 CENTS

GLIMPSES OF JAPANESE HISTORY

Ieyasu's Edict

In accounts given by Will Adams of his frequent conversations with "the old Emperor," it becomes perfectly clear that while Ieyasu, like Hideyoshi before him, was eager to carry on trade with "the great ships" from Macao and Manila, he was gradually and reluctantly forced to conclude that unless he expelled the Portuguese and Spanish from Japan, Japan would become but another star in the now doubled crown of Spain; the Portuguese crown having been annexed in 1580. So strong, however, was Ieyasu's desire for foreign trade that he did not reach this decision until after he had heard reports from such envoys as those despatched to Rome before his rule, and from others sent later. These envoys reported that while they were splendidly, even gorgeously, entertained, the "Vicar of Christ on Earth" claimed universal dominion over his subjects, no matter to what state they might profess allegiance; and that the incautious boast of the Spanish sea-captain, which had so alarmed Hideyoshi, expressed the exact truth. "The old Emperor" finally issued an edict of which a few citations serve to show the tenor:

The Kirishitan band have come to Japan, not only sending their merchant-vessels to exchange commodities, but also longing to disseminate an evil law, to overthrow right doctrine, so that they may change the government of the country, and obtain possession of the land. This is the germ of great disaster, and must be crushed.

Japan is the Country of the Gods and of the Buddha: it honors the (Shinto) gods, and reveres the Buddha.—The faction of the Padres disbelieve in "the Way of the Gods" and blaspheme the true law, violate right-doing, and injure the good.—They truly are the enemies of the gods and of the Buddha.—If this be not speedily prohibited, the safety of the State will assuredly hereafter be imperiled; and if those who are charged with ordering its affairs do not put a stop to the evil, they will expose themselves to Heaven's rebuke.

These (padres) must be instantly swept out, so that not an inch of soil remains to them in Japan on which to plant their feet; and if they refuse to obey this command, they shall suffer the penalty.—Let Heaven and the Four Seas hear this! Obey!

But the padres did not obey. "Suffering or even death counted for nothing with these men as against the possibility of saving souls," as even their enemies admit.

The early death of Ieyasu prevented his enforcement of this edict of 1614. During the entire sixteen years of his control of Japan not a single missionary suffered persecution.

Watch for the "stupendous spectacle" at the Oakland Y. W. C. A., February 27.

SAN FRANCISCO STUDENTS

Ieyasu's Edict

A mass meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Japanese Students' Christian Association was held Friday evening, January 15. About forty students of the Bay section attended. Mr. Raymond Nagayama of U. C. presided.

The first speaker was Miss Toyo Domoto of Mills College. She spoke on "The Second-generation Problems." Her chief emphasis lay upon the need of an employment bureau and scholarship funds for the second-generation. She also gave concrete suggestions for the solution of problems arising from the misunderstanding between the first and the second generations. Among the things suggested were a study of the Japanese language; group meetings, to be attended by both the younger and the elder generations; and parents' and children's banquets.

The next speaker was Mr. Kazuo Kawai of Stanford, who dealt principally with the business transacted at the Asilomar Conference. Among the things accomplished was the creation of a field council for the Western Division of the J. S. C. A.

Mr. Walter Tsukamoto of the University of California spoke next upon impressions gained from the last Asilomar Convention of the University Y. M. C. A. His chief emphasis lay upon the international character of the Convention.

Vocal selections by the J. S. C. A. quartet were rendered, accompanied by Miss Sumire Morishita of Berkeley. This quartet is composed of Mr. Walter Tsukamoto, Miss Sada Onouye, Mr. Henry Takahashi, and Miss Tomoye Kasai.

The main speaker was next introduced. Dr. Akagi, field secretary of the J. S. C. A., began his address by stating that the J. S. C. A. movement does not conflict with the various Japanese churches conducting young people's devotional meetings. These two groups should co-operate rather than be antagonistic to each other. The main portion of Dr. Akagi's speech dealt with an explanation of the J. S. C. A. movement and its relation to the development of sterling Christian character among students.

At the conclusion of Dr. Akagi's address, a short business meeting was held. The meeting disbanded at eleven o'clock.

THE SOUTHERN TOUR

The following members of the U. C. Japanese Basketball team made the triumphant tour through the south recently, winning four games out of four played.

The men that made the trip south were "Ak" Hayashi (mgr.), "Lightin" Bepp (capt.), "Kat" Iki, "Phantom" Domoto, "Spec" Ueyama, "Tet" Ishimaru, "Flash" Iino, "Babe" Moriwaki, "Norm" Kobayashi, "Hen" Takahashi.

These (padres) must be instantly swept out, so that not an inch of soil remains to them in Japan on which to plant their feet; and if they refuse to obey this command, they shall suffer the penalty.—Let Heaven and the Four Seas hear this! Obey!

But the padres did not obey. "Suffering or even death counted for nothing with these men as against the possibility of saving souls," as even their enemies admit.

The early death of Ieyasu prevented his enforcement of this edict of 1614. During the entire sixteen years of his control of Japan not a single missionary suffered persecution.

Watch for the "stupendous spectacle" at the Oakland Y. W. C. A., February 27.

SAN FRANCISCO STUDENTS

Ieyasu's Edict

A mass meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Japanese Students' Christian Association was held Friday evening, January 15. About forty students of the Bay section attended. Mr. Raymond Nagayama of U. C. presided.

The first speaker was Miss Toyo Domoto of Mills College. She spoke on "The Second-generation Problems." Her chief emphasis lay upon the need of an employment bureau and scholarship funds for the second-generation. She also gave concrete suggestions for the solution of problems arising from the misunderstanding between the first and the second generations. Among the things suggested were a study of the Japanese language; group meetings, to be attended by both the younger and the elder generations; and parents' and children's banquets.

The next speaker was Mr. Kazuo Kawai of Stanford, who dealt principally with the business transacted at the Asilomar Conference. Among the things accomplished was the creation of a field council for the Western Division of the J. S. C. A.

Mr. Walter Tsukamoto of the University of California spoke next upon impressions gained from the last Asilomar Convention of the University Y. M. C. A. His chief emphasis lay upon the international character of the Convention.

Vocal selections by the J. S. C. A. quartet were rendered, accompanied by Miss Sumire Morishita of Berkeley. This quartet is composed of Mr. Walter Tsukamoto, Miss Sada Onouye, Mr. Henry Takahashi, and Miss Tomoye Kasai.

The main speaker was next introduced. Dr. Akagi, field secretary of the J. S. C. A., began his address by stating that the J. S. C. A. movement does not conflict with the various Japanese churches conducting young people's devotional meetings. These two groups should co-operate rather than be antagonistic to each other. The main portion of Dr. Akagi's speech dealt with an explanation of the J. S. C. A. movement and its relation to the development of sterling Christian character among students.

At the conclusion of Dr. Akagi's address, a short business meeting was held. The meeting disbanded at eleven o'clock.

THE SOUTHERN TOUR

The following members of the U. C. Japanese Basketball team made the triumphant tour through the south recently, winning four games out of four played.

The men that made the trip south were "Ak" Hayashi (mgr.), "Lightin" Bepp (capt.), "Kat" Iki, "Phantom" Domoto, "Spec" Ueyama, "Tet" Ishimaru, "Flash" Iino, "Babe" Moriwaki, "Norm" Kobayashi, "Hen" Takahashi.

These (padres) must be instantly swept out, so that not an inch of soil remains to them in Japan on which to plant their feet; and if they refuse to obey this command, they shall suffer the penalty.—Let Heaven and the Four Seas hear this! Obey!

But the padres did not obey. "Suffering or even death counted for nothing with these men as against the possibility of saving souls," as even their enemies admit.

The early death of Ieyasu prevented his enforcement of this edict of 1614. During the entire sixteen years of his control of Japan not a single missionary suffered persecution.

Watch for the "stupendous spectacle" at the Oakland Y. W. C. A., February 27.

SAN FRANCISCO STUDENTS

Ieyasu's Edict

A mass meeting of the San Francisco Chapter of the Japanese Students' Christian Association was held Friday evening, January 15. About forty students of the Bay section attended. Mr. Raymond Nagayama of U. C. presided.

The first speaker was Miss Toyo Domoto of Mills College. She spoke on "The Second-generation Problems." Her chief emphasis lay upon the need of an employment bureau and scholarship funds for the second-generation. She also gave concrete suggestions for the solution of problems arising from the misunderstanding between the first and the second generations. Among the things suggested were a study of the Japanese language; group meetings, to be attended by both the younger and the elder generations; and parents' and children's banquets.

The next speaker was Mr. Kazuo Kawai of Stanford, who dealt principally with the business transacted at the Asilomar Conference. Among the things accomplished was the creation of a field

日本見學員得票數

(二)

一月十三日正午締切 第廿五回

地方別

候書

父母出身地

以

往

來

回

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

事

業

