TO-DAY'S TOPICS

Our New Year's Edition

The annual New Year's edition of the Japanese American News will be distributed to our readers on January 1, 1927. The English section will cover two full pages besides the daily columns in this special holiday edition.

The English section will contain articles of unusual interest to the second-generation young people by distinguished authorities on Japan. Leading second-generation members themselves also will contribute timely articles on subjects of vital interest to our readers.

The English Department of the Japanese American News has always worked for the welfare of the second-generation members. We have criticized where criticism is due, not merely for the sake of argument, but in order to enable young people to find their faults and strive to rectify them.

Our daily English section will undergo a decided improvement in the early part of 1927, when the section will be enlarged and more attractive.

Wife of Chaplin Takes 2 Children And Leaves Home

A JAPANESE BILLIARD STAR! WHAT NEXT?

Frank Konishi Leaves for New York. The development of a balking billiard sensation is the latest in the up-heaval of the Japanese to capture world fame. Right in line with the Japanese stars in tennis, swimming, football, boxing, oration and singing comes Frank Konishi, the billiard star of San Francisco, whose stock went up with spectacular victory in the handicap tournament at Eddie Graney's.

body type and heads will be incorporated. We are always striving for a better and bigger English section. Wherefore, we ask the co-operation of our readers.

'DEAD MAN' STARTLES FRESNO BOY SCOUTS

Sizzling Hot "Wienies" by Bonfire Delights Scouts

Forty old shoes and boots, belonging to twenty pairs of feet of young boys seated in a close on a floor, supported a swaying "Dead Man" whose stiff and upright body came first to one side of the ring and next to another as boys pushed it away from them to their fellow neighbors.

The "Dead Man" was none other than Tommy Kamikawa, the heavyweight of Troop 16, Boy Scout organization of the Fresno Congregational Church. The guests of the Boy Scouts, Tuesday night, enjoyed watching comical games and stunts such as the one just mentioned.

Winn Compliments Boys

J. Winn, field executive of the Boy Scouts of Fresno, was also present and gave the boys quite a run for their memory when they were required to hunt birds hidden in sentences. The Beaver Patrol came first in this contest.

A demonstration of signaling with flags was given by Joe Sasaki, George Aki, Sho Iino, and Leo Saito, who sent messages to the two patrols. Different knot tying of ropes by representatives of the three patrols took place, and Isosuke Kawai made the best record that evening by finishing in 45 seconds. Joe Sasaki, second, with 60 seconds, and Fichi Uchiyama third, one minute.

People Listen To Taps

After the Scout Laws were repeated, the people listened in silence to "taps" blown by the troop bugler, Ikuya Kawai. Then, outside, a fire lighting ceremony was held.

Songs, yells, harmonica solos and impromptu speeches preceded the "wienie roast" by the bonfire. Twenty-five or more sticks with sizzling "hot puppies" extended into the fire made an interesting sight.

The Oakland Sons and Daughters Society contributed the entire proceeds of the recent benefit ball to an East Oakland orphanage. The proceeds of the affair, which was held on November 22, amounted to $22.75. The young people of the society are deeply grateful for the sympathy and support of the Oakland people in this worthy cause.

Yamamisaka, Isei Kawai and John Fukushima, assisted by Mrs. J. K. Fukushima, was so popular that it disappeared in a very short time.

After more yells and music the group disbanded at ten-thirty, many declaring that they had eaten enough to go without the next day's breakfast.
