Japanese American News THE LARGEST JAPANESE NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED OUTSIDE OF JAPAN...

I WONDER!

According to the popular writings of the far sighted so-called international publicists of today, there are some half dozen solutions pointing out the ultimate future salvations of our overpopulated Japan...

Some years ago, a woman birth control advocate visited Japan to spread the seeds of her ideal. She was received with great contempt everywhere in Japan...

Women of Japan had their own little reasons to oust the foreign meddler. Japan is a peace loving home worshipping nation; where children are the coveted price of marriage...

Why forsake the things next to their very hearts, when there are other channels less unattractive and more effective to pursue?

Shall we turn our Yedo Gawa into Roman Tiber? or shall we follow America? America—where out of every thirty-six young women ranging from twenty-two to thirty-three years of age, all of them healthy and happy, intelligent good to look upon, highly respectable, well educated, in comfortable circumstances, only five of them are reported to have children...

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT GRANTS EXPATRIATION OF 14 AMERICAN BORN

List Announced by Japanese Consulate at Los Angeles

American-born young people in and around Los Angeles were granted cancellation of their Japanese citizenship by the special request of those concerned, according to an announcement made a few days ago by the Japanese consulate at L. A. By this act they have become freed of all obligations to Japan...

"Chuck" Yonezu Return from Yosemite

Chas. Yonezu of this city has returned from a four-day touring trip to Yosemite Park, where he accompanied Captain Arakida and Purser Fujita of the Tenyo Maru. The party left for home Monday via Stockton, Sacramento, and through Fresno.

Charley reports that there is good fishing up in the "Big Park." He only had five flat tires during the entire trip.

American womanhood. Two armies of women— One in silk and spangles; and no children— One in kimono and bare brown skin; absorbed in the little brown tots— I often wonder which means more to the nation.

Expert Gives View on Japan Food Problem

Japan and Java Compared by Dean of Agriculture College

(Continued from yesterday) "Native agriculture is supported by the Government, which aids in keeping the population supplied with food and maintains interest and development. Here also is a case where an enormous population must be supported in a limited area. Rice and fish are the principal products, though dairying is making rapid strides in the northernmost island of Hokkaido.

"Within recent years," Dr. Russell asserted, "the Japanese have so greatly improved the rice seed strains that one can look over a field of the grain and see the pure-line strain just as plainly as one will find in Wisconsin the pure strains of corn, barley, oats, and similar crops.

These methods have so increased production on a limited area available for agriculture that Japan is now able to furnish from its own output all but 6 percent of the total food requirements of its 55,000,000 people. In other words, Japan has to import only 8 percent of her food supply and curiously enough this 8 percent just about represents the amount of rice that goes annually into the production of 'sake,' a popular alcoholic beverage made from this grain.

"That means," Dr. Russell observed, "that if Japan should abolish its 'national drink,' the country would be practically self-supporting from a food standpoint."

New Zealand and Australia likewise are progressing. Dr. Russell found, however, that Hawaii, he maintains, comes next to Java and Japan in agricultural advance.

CHINESE COLONIZE MEXICO PROVINCE WINS WIFE ON CREDIT

Northwestern Sonora Is Reported Full of Orientals

The northwestern state of Sonora, Mexico, is populated almost entirely by Chinese, according to the local papers. This is shown in statistics compiled by the executive committee of an organization in Nogales, Arizona, which is formed for the purpose of conducting anti-Chinese movement in Mexico.

The report states that 95 percent of the business in Sonora is controlled by Orientals, who through marriage with Mexican women are making considerable incursions into the native blood of the Sonora population. The Chinese control everything but the split pea business and "the Yaqui Indian campaign."

Special emphasis is placed in the report on the marriages of Chinese to Mexican women. In most cases the men are described as wealthy Chinese merchants who, desiring young Mexican girls in marriage, extend unlimited credit in the way of merchandise to their families until finally "the relatives pay the account by attending the marriages of their children to the Orientals."

The report then stresses that the stay of the Chinese in Sonora is only temporary, their objective invariably being the United States and particularly California. Difficulties have been experienced by the Sonora authorities in checking up the business of the Chinese and collecting taxes, because their real books are kept in a language no other person can understand.

Palo Alto Y.M.B.A. Announce Koen Kai

Special Meet Decides Plans For Coming Function

At a special meeting of Palo Alto Y.M.W.B.A. held at the Buddhist Church on Wednesday night, July 13, the following discussions were brought up: 1-To hold a Koen-Kai on Saturday, July 23, 7:30 p.m., at Palo Alto.

2-To invite three Shugaku-Dan members for the Koen-Kai. Beside Miss Edna Yamakoshi of Palo Alto, they are Miss Tsuji of Centerville, Miss Take-moto of San Jose, and Mr. Ikuda of Oakland.

3-K. Terakawa was elected as chairman of the Koen-Kai. 4-To send three representatives from the association: Henry Mitari, Jim Kumagai, and Henry Tanaka.

5-Mr. Yonemura will be one of the Koen-Kai, received a $20 donation from Miss Edna Yamakoshi.

PERSONAL

Walter Tsukamoto, student at the University of California, who has been working near Suisun since summer vacation started, recently made a flying visit to Berkeley on his roadster. With him was his co-worker, Harry "Fat" Sano.

As Saturday was "rest day" instead of Sunday, the two boys tore out of Suisun on Friday night after supper about 6:30, and reached the home of Harry Yoshida in Berkeley, two hours later at 8:30.

They spent their "rest day" in East Oakland, doing some costly purchasing at the "Monkey and Ward Company," (pardon the slip of the pen—it was Montgomery and Ward Company). After dissipating their hard-earned shekels in a "hair-cut, shave, and a shine for two-bits," the two young Lochinvars wound up their hectic holiday by witnessing the latest screen masterpiece, "Rough-house Rosie," on a free pass.

As they hit the trail for their ranch on Saturday eve, they were heard to sigh at the lamentable dearth of merriment and feminine companionship in "those dead burgs," Suisun and Fairfield. Vacaville was suggested as the "city of consolation."

The two sons of toil just finished picking apricots, and started on pears, Monday. Walt says he's wearing out the hours waiting for the "nights of daze" when the Freshmen and Silver Echo "hops" come around again.

FIRST INTERSCHOLASTIC BOXING TOURNAMENT IN JAPAN ATTRACTS CROWD

Keio and Meiji Universities Battle to Even Decision

Mr. Y. Watanabe, who led a group of semi-professional boxers to California, is now promoting interscholastic boxing matches in Japan. Through his efforts, the first interscholastic boxing tournament was held on June 25 between Meiji and Keio Universities. According to the detailed reports received by the Nichi-Nichi from Mr. Watanabe, the tournament resulted in a draw with both schools attaining five points apiece. Consequently the championship banner contributed by the Nichi-Nichi paper and the Kano trophy were withheld for the second tournament to be held next year.

The meet, which was staged at the Aoyama auditorium, was packed to its capacity. The boxers of both colleges fought valiantly, and the whole tournament to be held next year. That an unprecedented interest has been aroused in boxing among fans of the country.

Tidewater (By Iwao Kawakami)

"It was an awful surprise to see you. Won't you come in?" As he followed her into the parlor, a stout woman with a small girl in her arms, entered at the same time from another door, evidently that of the kitchen. Chikagi greeted her with a perfunctory: "Kon-nichi-wa."

She smiled and answered in like manner, and Ruriko introduced her as her aunt, Mrs. Okada. The little girl, who was her cousin, Mary, struggled loose from her mother's arms, and running to Ruriko's side, shyly hid her face behind her frock.

Ruriko gently pushed her out in front of her and urged her to shake hand with him. He laughed a little as the chubby, little fingers closed on his. "Are you a nice girl, Mary? If you are—I'll get you something good pretty soon."

The girl's cheek turned red, and she ran back to her mother who disappeared into the kitchen again. "It's good to see you again, Ruriko."

"Same here, Chikagi. Won't you sit down?" She had taken a seat on a dark-green sofa, and, after arranging a cushion, she motioned him to sit down beside her. "How did you happen to come out here?" he asked her.

"Oh, my uncle told me that this was a good place to spend the summer—for my health." "Where is he?" "Working at a well on the beach."

"Is there a well around here—on a beach?" "Yes—you can see it from the window here—look."

After he had satisfied himself on that point, he turned to ask her again: "So he gets oil from the sea? Does it pay?" "Oh, he doesn't run it—a company does. But he gets paid rather well, if that's what you yourself?"

As he was about to answer, her aunt called out from the kitchen: "Ruriko—won't you go out and cut some lettuce for lunch?"

As Ruriko rose hastily, she asked him: "Did you have lunch yet?" "No, but—"

"Then you must eat with us," she said, and left the room. (To be continued)

WASEDA'S TROUCE ALL-HAWAIIANS IN RETURN CONTEST

All-Hawaiians Are Humbled By Collegiates, Score, 6-4

HONOLULU, July 7—Flashing the Samurai spirit of old Japan, the Waseda varsity baseballers overcame the lead of the regular All-Hawaiian nine and scored an impressive 6-4 victory over the natives yesterday afternoon in the new Honolulu Stadium.

The collegiates were outbatted 6 hits to eleven, but they converted their bingles into runs, while the Islanders wasted a lot of powder.

Captain Itami, Iguchi, Nishimura, Mizuhara and Captain Himuro were the outstanding stars for the invaders. Itami was in great measure responsible for the victory of the visitors. The doughty catcher hit a sizzling triple which scored Mizuhara ahead of him, and then he laid the tying run on a piece of baseball strategy by Captain Himuro. Iguchi connected for a single and a double in five trips to the plate. His double in the final chapter gave the Waseda boys the two-run margin of victory over the Hawaiians.

Golf-bug has taken a big hold on Shizuto Kawamura, president of the Alameda Epworth League, for he is trying very hard to acquire the knowledge of golf ideas every day from morn to night at Alameda Municipal Golf Grounds in Bay Farm Island.

John (Albert Cooke) Yoshino, whose ambition is to become a Sunday School teacher; is doing night-work.

Jimmy Maruyama, president of the Alameda Buddhist Boy's Association and captain of the Alameda Taikuu Babes, with his gang of youngsters camped recently at Niles for two nights. Included in his honorary staffs were "Lindy" Nakano, chief cook; "Louis Guisto" Nogami, assistant chief cook; and "Sleepy Hollow" Hitomi, chief dishwasher.

Lochinvars are abundant in Alameda. If you don't believe it, then just glance over the following list: "Mushy" Morino, Joannie Towata, John "Albert Cooke" Yoshino, John Takakura, "Chubby" Miki, and Harue Imura.
