YAMANASHI IS OFF FOR KOREA POST

Governor General Escorted By Warships

HAGOITA

With New Year's but ten days away, an editorial on Hagoita-asobi, the game of bathtedore and shuttlecock, should not, in our opinion, be altogether untimely.

Hagoita-asobi has a peculiar significance in Japanese life. It is a favorite pastime of the girls of Nippon during the New Year holidays, but it is not a game confined to girls. Men, women, boys and children all join the girls in their game, and for once those of the feminine and masculine sexes mingle with not a thought of the equity or the inequality of the sexes.

Taking the form of a semi-opened folded fan and made of paulownia or cryptomeria, the original hagoita was chalked and made illustrative of human beings, fish, grass or flower. Various figures were also put on white and plain hagoita. In the middle of the Tokugawa Shogunate gold and silver foil were adopted, and were employed in paintings of noblemen in full Court dress or of beauties of the land with their hair let down. This was called dairi doll hagoita.

Originally hagoita were manufactured in Kyoto, but subsequently the popularity of the game in other parts of the country resulted in their manufacture throughout the empire. Oshige-zakura or passed-gala-pictures were applied to the hagoita during the last days of the Tokugawa shogunate. Co-incident with the progress of Kabuki plays in Japan, the likenesses of popular actors and illustrations of well-known plays, were drawn on the boards. Today, due to the widespread popularity of American motion picture stars, it is not infrequent that one finds elaborately embroidered likenesses of Gloria Swanson, Charlie Chaplin, Dolores del Rio and other actors and actresses on the boards.

13 GRADUATES HONORED AT M.E. RECEPTION

RUBY MINAMI IS ONLY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE PRESENT

ALAMEDA—Thirteen isn't so unlucky after all—if it's the number representing a graduating group. That's exactly the number that was represented last Sunday at a reception held at the local E. Sunday School.

Kenzo Yoshida, acting as chairman introduced Mr. Akagi who delivered the invocation. Messrs. Ura, Yamamoto, Rev. Fujii and Miki gave addresses in order. Miss Ruby Minami, representing the graduates, spoke words of appreciation. Charming misses acted as hostesses and served refreshments.

The guests of honor from grammar schools were:

Masaru Mizoguchi, Hajime Kondo, Masa Iwahara, Masako Otsuka, Shigehi Madokoro, Harue Matsushita, Hanae Nakayama, Tomoe Yamashita, Miyoshi Yamashita, Shigeko Iwahara, Bruce Thompson and Ritsu Yamagishi. Ruby Minami was the only high school graduate.

S. F. Protos To Have Great 1928 Season

With the coming new year term of 1928, the local Y.M.C.A. Proto Club faces a busy season. According to adviser Rev. Mr. Takahashi of the San Francisco Buddhist Church, the former Y. M. B. A. will be given over to the younger group, the Proto Club.

This is a marked progress and achievement on the part of the younger boys to be able to attract the older organization to join with the comparatively new club.

If further plans are completed, the Proto Club will be financially independent and will have opportunities of expansion in greater fields.

The new officers who will carry on the work for 1928 term are: President, Ted Iwasaki; Vice-President, Hardou Ouye; Secretary, Bud Yoshimura; Treasurer, Duke Itatani; Social, James Hashimoto; Athletic Manager, Min Puruki.

EDUCATOR ON WAY TO U.S. TOUR

Prof. Murai Will Lecture On Japan

PLACERVILLE YOUTHS PLAN CELEBRATION

NEW YEAR DINNER TO BE HELD AT PENRYN HALL

PLACERVILLE — Under the combined auspices of the Placer County Young Men's Association, the Y. M. B. A. and the Buddhist Shojo-Kai, a New Year Banquet will be held in the Penryn Hall on January 2, from two o'clock in the afternoon.

Professor Tomoyoshi Murai, one of Japan's great contemporary educators and president of the Tokyo Daichi Gakko Go Gakko, a privately owned linguistic institution boasting over 70 teachers and 2,000 students, will arrive in San Francisco on the Tenyo Maru which will set anchor here on next Monday, according to the announcement made by the local office of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line.

Professor Murai will conduct a lecture tour of this country, in order to introduce Japan's culture to the American people and thus help to establish understanding among the people here of Japanese thought. He is not coming here as an official emissary but at his own expense and on his own behalf as a self-appointed spokesman of Japanese life and character to Western audiences. He has been dissuaded from his trip by friends because of his age and the fear that the strenuous exertion of the journey may prove fatal to his health, but the professor, who is sixty-five years old, has persisted in this undertaking as he believes that this is his mission.

He will be accompanied by his daughter, Miss Tomo Murai, who is a teacher at the Tokyo Peers' School.

The following are the subject upon which he will lecture in this country:

1. The Soul of the Orient.
2. The Meaning of Japanese Civilization.
3. Japanese Love of Nature.
4. Japanese Love of Cleanliness.
5. The National Characteristics of Japan, seen through her Customs and Manners.
6. The Oriental Religion, as Lived by a Great Japanese Poet.
7. A Model Japanese Youth.
8. "Nogaku," the Classical Japanese Play.

Professor Murai is also a noted interpreter of the classical No drama of Japan. During his tour he and his daughter will give interpretation of the No at request. During his lengthy career as educator he has been associated with the following institutions: Waseda University, Japan Women's University, Higher Commercial School of Tokyo, Foreign Language School, Meiji University, and the First Foreign Language School.

The program began with an "alasatu" (greetings) by Rev. Nutama. Songs, musical play, comedy drama and Urasima drama were some of the features of the evening. The main attraction was the presentation of a famous Japanese classic drama. The program ended about eleven o'clock.
