FORGERS OF PORT PAPER DISAPPEAR

Reward Of $500 Offered For Capture

Kobe Man Has 1,200,000 Yen Income, 1927

TOKYO, Jan. 16 (by Mail)—With an income of 1,200,000 yen, chief from interest in loans, Shimpei Inui of Kobe is the biggest money-maker for the year 1927 in the Kansai district, according to income figures reported by the Nippon Densho service.

Latest entries in the re-entry permit forgery case was disclosed here at the immigration office when two Japanese, Kenkichi Okamoto and Hamasaki, charged with forging governmental documents and released on bail, forfeited their bonds and escaped.

Altogether four Japanese were charged by the local immigration officials with being involved in attempts to defraud the government by forging re-entry permits.

Nakamura was convicted at the trial before the Federal Court Thursday morning and will be deported by the immigration officials.

Kenkichi Okamoto, who was released on a $5000 bail, failed to appear before the court, and a search is now being made for his arrest.

Two thousand dollars of his bail was furnished by the proprietor of the local Kashu Hotel situated on the corner of Sutter and Laguna streets; and, upon learning of the escape of the suspected forger, T. Morozumi, who is representing the Kashu Hotel, has announced that he will give a $500 reward for the arrest of Okamoto. Hamasaki, another suspect in the case, also escaped.

Yoshiro Masaichi, a graduate of the law school of University of Southern California and a Hawaiian born youth, who was also charged with complicity in the crime, was exonerated before the federal court. He is an attorney whose office is located in Los Angeles, and his only connection with the case was that, in his capacity as a notary, put his seal to a document which happened to have been counterfeited by Japanese forgers.

A delegation composed of Roberts, Minami, Gongoro Nakamura, and Shigeharu Kawano, all from Los Angeles, arrived in this city in order to testify to his integrity as a lawyer, and their testimonies were largely responsible for his exoneration before the federal courts.

AMERICAN CHILDREN

"American children are 'insouciant,' open-minded and gay," So writes a noted observer in Comœdia, a Paris paper, after a visit to the United States. "They work without effort—that is to say very little. They only learn the indispensable. In the big cities many streets are reserved for them and their play. They are safe from the life-crushing jugernauts of modern traffic. At the age of 12 an American child upholds his own opinion against that of his parents and opposes his 'reactions' to their 'reactions.' They are treated and addressed as if they were adults. At 15 they go out to earn a living, without losing their insouciance and their gaiety. They will have known neither laziness nor indolence. And they will die without having noticed that they have lived. Quietness and retreat in the eventide of life, preparation for death; those are unknown things in a country where death is an insignificant detail."
