PROBLEM OF U.S. CITIZENS OF JAPANESE BLOOD AIRED

Loyalty League Convention To Be Called In Fall

San Francisco is acting as host to Japanese Association secretaries from 15 leading cities of Northern and Central California who are now in a three-day conference at the headquarters of the Association, on Laguna Street.

The conference opened Monday and will be in session until Wednesday. Among the more important topics for deliberation at the conference are the following:

1. An appropriate gift to be presented to the Emperor of Japan by the Japanese people in America during the Coronation next November.
2. Second generation farm problems.
3. Aid for the American Loyalty League.
4. Means of encouraging suitable persons to take up the profession of language school teachers.
5. The formation of a land corporation.

To Send Gift

Delegates to the conference decided yesterday on sending a gift to the Emperor valued at about $2,000, the money to be raised through a subscription campaign.

With regard to problems confronting the second generation, the delegates were in agreement on supporting the Loyalty League, and moved to have the League call a State-wide convention in Fresno in September.

Appeal To Parents

Turning to the question of second generation farm problems, the delegates saw the need of encouraging and assisting American citizens of Japanese ancestry in owning their own farms and homes, and in keeping them in this country through every means possible.

Coming to the educational question, the conference decided to appeal to parents of second generation Japanese to keep their children in schools until they complete their education. It was also decided to foster meetings among those out of school for the purpose of giving such peoples an opportunity to further their studies.

KUWA, NOTED HIGH MARK ACTOR, SAILS SET BY "Y"

Few Parts For Japanese In Hollywood, He Says

George Kuwa, widely known character actor of Hollywood, departed yesterday for Yokohama aboard the N. Y. K. liner Siberia Maru to take up the megaphone in Japan's movie studios.

Kuwa yesterday bemoaned the lack of Japanese parts in American photoplays in the course of an interview with The Japanese American News.

The popular actor said he has appeared in 122 pictures since he first entered the movies in Hollywood, but almost a hundred of his parts have been that of a Chinese.

Even today, he explained, the majority of Japanese character actors in Hollywood are in demand wholly because of their resemblance to Chinese people.

Although he is better known here for his humorous characterizations, Kuwa expects to produce a number of dramatic photoplays while in Japan.

Envoy Chosen

TOKYO, April 10—(Special)—Matsuzo Nagai, Japanese Minister to Sweden, was today appointed Ambassador to Belgium to succeed Mineichiro Adachi.

ENVOYS OF JAPAN WILL BE SHIFTED

Matsudaira May Not Go To London Now

By Miles W. Vaughn
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, March 26—(By Mail)—Important shifts in the Japanese diplomatic service may follow the expected retirement of the Japanese ambassador to London, Baron K. Matsui, it was forecast in official circles here today.

Baron Matsui is expected to leave London for Japan about April 10, according to the Foreign Office, and will be succeeded temporarily by S. Saburi, former counselor of the Embassy, as charge d'affaires. Saburi who has been in Japan on leave, is expected to reach London in a few days and probably will be in charge of the Embassy for some months pending appointment of an ambassador.

The name of Tsuneo Matsudaira, present ambassador in Washington, is mentioned most prominently for the London post, although no decision regarding the appointment has been reached as yet by Premier Tanaka and Vice Foreign Minister Debuchi. Matsudaira is scheduled to return to Japan shortly with his family to attend the wedding of his daughter, Setsuko, to the heir presumptive to the throne, Prince Chichibu. In view of the close relationship between the Imperial Family and the Ambassador which the wedding of his daughter will establish some observers here are inclined to feel Matsudaira may not want the London post, preferring to remain as an ambassador attached to the Foreign Office as an advisor.

The general opinion, however, is that he will go to London sometime after his daughter's wedding, scheduled to be held in September.

Has Long Record

The Vice Foreign Minister, Katsumi Debuchi, long has been credited with a desire to serve as ambassador in Washington and if he wants the post he likely will get it eventually, as he has a long and distinguished record in the Foreign Office and, in the absence of a foreign minister, is practically in charge of diplomatic changes. Premier Tanaka has acted as both premier and foreign minister ever since he assumed office nearly a year ago and has left diplomatic matters largely to Debuchi, it is understood.

The departure of Y. Mori, new minister to Chile, has been delayed. It is reported he is to be married before he sails for Valparaiso.

Reports have been current from time to time, too, that Kenkichi Yoshizawa, minister in Feking, may give up his post this year because of ill health but these cannot be confirmed in official circles.

BOXERS OF JAPAN NOT INFERIOR

Watanabe Believes Nippon Will Produce Champions

TOKYO, April 1—(By Mail)—People of Japanese blood are strongly urged to take up boxing by Prof. Yujiro Watanabe, the "father of boxing in Japan," just as Prof. Isao Abe is the "father of baseball."

Boxing, this authority states, is especially suited for Japanese and is one field of international sports in which the people of Nippon are placed in a very advantageous position.

It is known here in the United States where he has appeared in many fight encounters with American fighters. He trained both Kintaro Usuda, who recently acquired the Pacific Coast amateur boxing title in San Francisco, and K. Nakamura, who won ten bouts in a row on the Pacific Coast.

The reason Professor Watanabe calls boxing the most suitable sport for the Japanese lies in the fact that it classifies the boxers according to weight and only allows matches between opponents of the same class, as far as weight is concerned. Thus physical handicap, under which all Japanese athletes suffer when competing against members of the white race in no way places the Japanese fighter at a disadvantage, for he will be matched only with a man of equal weight.

This fact places the Nipponese on a level of equality with any foreign boxer, it is said.

Match For Foreigners
Given plenty of scientific training and a financial backing, an enthusiastic fighter who is willing to learn could be developed into an expert fighter for foreign champions of the same class, it is pointed out.

Thus provided boxing becomes one of the great sports in this country, as Mr. Watanabe expects it will, the future will probably see Nipponese bantamweight and lightweight stars carving names for themselves in the scroll of world's boxing celebrities.

Professor Watanabe believes it is foolish to argue about the superiority of boxing and jujitsu, just as it is nonsensical to dispute the superiority of base ball and soccer.

"What we, who are engaged in boxing, have to do is to develop our own art to the highest standard for competitions among ourselves and the same applies to those who pursue the other lines of sporting activities," he continues.

"If we are to compete internationally boxing is the best medium, for it is a universal sport today. Its progress after the World War has been astonishing," says the boxing expert.

He believes that in the future boxing will be taken up by the young people, not so much as a means of self-defense or for aggression as it was in the early days of its birth, but as a physical exercise for the development of a healthful strong body. It will also serve, in his opinion, as an important channel through which international friendship and understanding may be fostered.

L. A. Delegates To Y. W. Parley Named

As this is a picnic open to all Japanese of this city, many young second generation members are expected to compete in the boat race as well as in the various field events.

Debating Team From Honolulu To Visit Japan

TOKYO, April 1—(By Mail)—Three student debaters of the University of Hawaii representing three different races, will tour the Orient late this spring, meeting local teams in contests.

They are Walter Mihata, of Japanese ancestry, J. Stovell Wright, or Anglo-Saxon parents and Ah Ho Chum, of Chinese descent. They will sail from Honolulu for Japan on May 15, by the N. Y. K. trans-Pacific liner "Siberia Maru."

The team after touring various parts of Japan will also visit China and the Philippines.

LILIES COME FROM JAPAN

Millions Of Bulbs Come Here From Yokohama

Where do Easter lilies come from? Most of them come from Japan. That is, not flowers, but the bulbs. Last year more than 22,000,000 bulbs of lilies valued at $4,000,000 and more were shipped from Nippon to the United States.

The history of the lily bulb export trade dates back to 40 years ago when the late Mr. Seitaro Arai, Sr., of Yokohama started the business. About fifty years ago Christian missionaries in Japan realized that a very beautiful species of lilies grew in Japan and introduced them to their friends abroad as being excellent Easter presents. From then on European countries and the United States have turned their attention to Japan as a source of supply of Easter lilies.

New Species Introduced
When lily bulbs grown in and around Yokohama were first exported, they failed as a business proposition due to the weather changes and the long ocean voyage through tropical waters. It was then that Mr. Arai thought out a plan to export bulbs grown in tropical regions which were able to withstand the voyage. The veteran botanist therefore left for the Loochoo Islands and there discovered the species of lily that brought him success.

With this new species he built up the foremost lily bulb exporting firm in Japan. Just four years ago while he was seeking other species in the Loochoo Islands, Mr. Arai was stricken with fever and passed away.

Before the European War about 60 per cent. of the export trade was to Europe and 40 per cent. to the United States, but at present the ratio is just the reverse.

Bulbs are Shipped
Lilies are shipped in the form of bulbs and not as plants. The lily plant is brought in from the field, and is cultivated in the nurseries with very great care for about three months before the bulbs are packed for shipment.

The import duty on lily bulbs from Japan to the United States is $2 per 1000 bulbs. Importation into European countries is free of duty.

Climate Favorable
There are lilies in China and other countries but they are not of a species which will compare in beauty with the Japanese flowers which are pure white, while those of other countries are not of a very clear type. The soil and climate conditions in Japan are most favorable to the cultivation of lilies, hence Easter Lilies are the special product of Nippon.

The importation of plants into the United States is prohibited by the plant quarantine inspectors, but the importation of lily bulbs is permitted, although there are very strict regulations in this respect.

Japanese Scouts In Pageant Parade

Thirty-five Boy Scouts of Troop 12, the Japanese Troop, led by Scoutmaster Sano participated in the pageant-parade Monday which opened the session of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America now being held here.

Each of the Troop 12 boys carried a small Japanese flag. It is reported that there are 42 nationalities represented in the scout organization.

U.S. - JAPAN WAR HELD UNLIKELY BY LIGGETT

World Is Tired Of Fighting Says General

Though America turns questioning eyes upon Japan, the voice that commanded a million men in France says calmly that there will be no war between the United States and the Far Eastern Island Empire.

"Japan is too wise to war on us. We are her best customer. It would be suicide," Major General Hunter Liggett, retired, yesterday declared in a press interview.

People Fed Up
"People have a bellyful of war," the general continued. "They want no more of it. We can't foresee events. Some sudden move may prove me wrong. I think, however, we may not have another conflict for 50 or 60 years."

A World War
"When it does come—if it does—every nation will be pulled in. 'Trouble is brewing in Europe, but it probably will settle. Brewing principally because Poland, partitioned off for centuries, has been suddenly rejoined. It's a nation, politically, actually, no. Some day statesmen will learn that a nation can't be made in a day. Nor a century."

The field commander of the A. E. F. has just had his new book published, "A. E. F.—Ten Years Ago in France." Has tried to give a true, complete picture of the clash of arms. Especially of America's part. "It amazes when writers try to discredit the part we played. The Allies—Haig notwithstanding—would have lost had it not been for American aid."

"The pictures drawn of the American soldier in France have usually been untrue. He wasn't drunken nor raskish, although he was careless. But that was brave, gay carelessness. It needed experience to temper it."

"I never saw a drunken soldier all the time I was in France."

"The colored regiments did fine work—but only when they had white officers. The negroes won't work under their own."

KERCHIEF IS SMART SAYS STYLE REPORT

KERCHIEF IS SMART SAYS STYLE REPORT

Priscilla Aiden set the style for kerchiefs and the modern woman, who misses nothing that is becoming in the way of dress, does that demure little maid homage by making the simple triangle an added attraction to the sports costume. The model pictured above digresses somewhat from the general trend of the kerchief idea by fashioning both collar and cuffs from the scarf.

A long blouse of printed or novelty silk and a pleated skirt of plain material to harmonize make as delightful a frock as could be desired by the smartest of women.
