And Things Japanese

Japan and Things Japanese, a section devoted to present-day news and views, and ancient facts regarding the Japanese people and their country, is a regular feature of the English Section.

BASEBALL IN JAPAN

Doesn't it surprise you to read that the greatest baseball turnout in history takes place in Japan and not in this country?

Amazing, isn't it? Yet that is the truth, and if you won't take our word for it, we've got Harry Kingman, former Big League player and one-time Y. M. C. A. secretary at the University of California, to vouch for this statement.

Kingman was in Japan last year. He saw 85,000 men, women and children crowded into the gigantic Koshien stadium between Osaka and Kobe. The Yankee Stadium, which is the most capacious of American baseball plants, has never accommodated such a crowd.

And yet the game was merely a high school match! The university and semi-professional titles don't attract Japan's baseball fans. The game is too fast for them.

You see baseball is a comparatively new national game in Japan. Although it was introduced some thirty-six years ago, it is only during the past fifteen years that the populace has taken unusual interest in it.

It is interesting to note that Keio University, whose team arrived here last week, was the first school in Japan to take up baseball. From the Keio boys, Waseda and other varsity men picked up the game and within a few years inter-varsity matches were being played in Japan.

Japanese umpires accept no remuneration for their services, but rather regard officiating as a highly profitable form of diversion in itself, open only to the privileged few.

The American baseball fan, with his mind full of visions of the American "ump" busily dodging a machine-gun spray of pop bottles, must have a hard time reconciling that statement with American baseball traditions. But that is the truth. And when it comes to baseball practice, it may surprise readers of this paper to learn that a large number of high school students die each year because of over-exertion in practice. Hundreds are incapacitated for life because they spend too many hours chasing tall flies and pitching too many curves when their arms are already aching.

LOS ANGELES, April 21—(Special)—When the people of Pasadena some years ago were collecting a fund to rebuild Tsuda College, leading educational institution for women in Japan which was destroyed in the earthquake and fire of Tokyo in 1923, members of the Pasadena Community Players presented "Fallen Blossoms," one of Ken Nakazawa's plays.

This play proved a phenomenal success and since then has been staged by the MacDowell Club and the Ebell Club, both of this city. These presentations were of a non-professional character.

Play At Matinee
On May 6, however, Los Angeles will have its first opportunity of seeing Mr. Nakazawa's play produced professionally. For on this day "Fallen Blossoms" will be presented at the Hollywood Play House at a special matinee.

The play has been slightly altered and instead of three characters, there will be eight or ten people on the stage. The leading roles will be taken by Beatrice Prentice, William Raymond, and Carlo Schipa.

Book Published
In connection with Mr. Nakazawa's recent success in the presentation of plays and the writing of fiction, it is interesting to note that his latest book, Weaver of the Frost, has recently been published by Harper & Brothers of New York. The book is illustrated by S. Mizuno.

Mr. Nakazawa is planning a visit to San Francisco in the near future for the purpose of purchasing books and material on Japanese and Chinese literature and philosophy. Thus far his activities at the University of Southern California have been confined to giving lectures on art, but next year he will be called upon to offer courses in literature and philosophy.

NAKAWAZA'S PLAY ON L. A. STAGE MAY 6

Writer Wins New Plaudits In Harper Book

Graduates Of U. C. Pharmacy School Feted

Three youths of the local Buddhist Church, all graduates of the U. C. Pharmacy School, will be feted at a farewell party given in their honor under the joint auspices of the Y. M. B. A. and Y. W. B. A. at their headquarters on Pine Street Sunday night.

The honor guests are Harold Ouye, George Kuniyoshi, and Keinosuke Inouye. Ouye will return to Lodi, Kuniyoshi to Bakerfield, and Inouye will travel East.

Although they have completed their work at the Pharmacy School, they are planning to return to this city.

Sliding Door Opens
Suddenly a sliding door opened and my eyes glanced at once to see who was about to enter. No one seemed to be there, but glancing downward I noticed that near the floor was a very pretty face with her hair done up. Of course being a lover of female pulchritude no movement escaped my attention.

The little flower who entered, rose came through the door, got on her knees and then closed the door. She came forward in a very stooped position deftly adjusted the charcoal in the hibachi, said "hai" to an order or two and disappeared through the door with the same movements used on entering. As this is not an account of a banquet let it suffice that we stayed there about two hours.

On arrival in Tokyo I was taken to the Akasaka-kan, a very fair middle class hotel. I was so dazed cold in my silk socks and B. V. D. underwear that Mr. Tomita suggested my taking an immediate bath. A girl came into the room with kimono and obi and stood there holding it. I couldn't see any place to undress, looked around in a shivering way and Tomita laughed, and the girl laughed till he said, "Well, are you not going to undress?"

Unafraid Of Women
"Well! I'm not the kind of person to be afraid of any woman so I immediately stripped to my pale blue cold fish. Got into the kimono and managed to get my toes into a pair of heeless slippers."

The next day I bought heavy underwear, woolen socks and other things for my material comfort and made up my mind to be game.

The bank, Imperial Hotel and many other places for tourists were at once found and my one yen taxi bill totaled six yen. There was no use trying to get on the narrow street cars, for I had not the faintest idea where they went, besides I saw no stop signs and did not know about the red poles.

The cars and traffic went on the left side of streets and the taxi men are the most expert in the world for they can dodge around bullocks, horse-drawn wagons with wheels about one foot high, man drawn vehicles, some of which had about forty tubs, thousands of persons on bicycles, and sometimes this is in streets about ten feet wide where women with babies on their backs nonchalantly step to the left when the horn honks.

To be sure it is life, amazing at first but soon recognized as a happy crowd that goes its way. Everyone is kind and tries to understand my sign language which often causes great laughter especially from the children who look upon me as a harmless curiosity, for in the quarter where I lived, there certainly were very few foreigners.

PICNIC AT LAMPOC
LAMPOC, April 20—A great open air barbecue and field meet will feature a picnic Sunday, April 22, in the gulch on the property of Mr. Cooper, near the residence of President Takahashi of the Farm Corporation which is sponsoring this picnic.

Placer Endeavors Will Meet Cubs
NEWCASTLE, April 19—The first baseball game of the season will be played here Sunday, when the Placer Endeavors meet the Sacramento Cubs.

The Placer Endeavors, holders of the cellar last year in the Valley League, have acquired some new infielders and hope to stop the Sacramento Cubs, last year's champs.

WALL-OF-TROY BANDING FOR CAPE COAT

There are many varieties and styles of coats designed for this season's wear. The three that head the list, however, are the collarless coat, the scarf coat, and the cape coat. The model shown above may be a combination of the last two, for a scarf may be easily attached to the turned-up collar. The cape can be detached for a change, too or in the event of very warm weather. The coat is perfectly straight and full length although the seventh-eighth length is very new and smart when worn with a dress of the same fabric. The collar, cuffs and pockets are interestingly trimmed with Wall-of-Troy banding. Cashmere, novelty tweed, broadcloth and crepe satin are materials that will make the design suitable for any occasion during spring and summer.

SAVANT PENS SHIBATA, ON DEPARTURE LETTER FROM EVE, TELLS YOUTHS', OLD PEOPLES' WOE IN TALK

Prof. Pelham Nahl Writes To Friends In San Francisco

(The following excerpts from a letter to his many Japanese friends in San Francisco, written by Prof. Pelham Nahl who is at present in Japan, are published here with the permission of Mr. Chuzo Ohta, a close friend of Prof. Nahl.—The Editors.)

LOS ANGELES, April 22—Placing of second generation members in their chosen fields of work will be the main purpose of the J. S. C. A. of North America in establishing a $5,000 Pacific Coast headquarters, it was announced here today.

The Los Angeles chapter, with a quota of $1,500, has just completed plans for the staging of a "tag week" in the near future to carry the drive "over the top."

San Francisco and Seattle combined have been asked to raise $1,500, while $2,000 will come from Americans vitally interested in the cause of the second generation.

The bank, Imperial Hotel and many other places for tourists were at once found and my one yen taxi bill totaled six yen. There was no use trying to get on the narrow street cars, for I had not the faintest idea where they went, besides I saw no stop signs and did not know about the red poles.

The cars and traffic went on the left side of streets and the taxi men are the most expert in the world for they can dodge around bullocks, horse-drawn wagons with wheels about one foot high, man drawn vehicles, some of which had about forty tubs, thousands of persons on bicycles, and sometimes this is in streets about ten feet wide where women with babies on their backs nonchalantly step to the left when the horn honks.

To be sure it is life, amazing at first but soon recognized as a happy crowd that goes its way. Everyone is kind and tries to understand my sign language which often causes great laughter especially from the children who look upon me as a harmless curiosity, for in the quarter where I lived, there certainly were very few foreigners.

PICNIC AT LAMPOC
LAMPOC, April 20—A great open air barbecue and field meet will feature a picnic Sunday, April 22, in the gulch on the property of Mr. Cooper, near the residence of President Takahashi of the Farm Corporation which is sponsoring this picnic.

Placer Endeavors Will Meet Cubs
NEWCASTLE, April 19—The first baseball game of the season will be played here Sunday, when the Placer Endeavors meet the Sacramento Cubs.

The Placer Endeavors, holders of the cellar last year in the Valley League, have acquired some new infielders and hope to stop the Sacramento Cubs, last year's champs.

WALL-OF-TROY BANDING FOR CAPE COAT

There are many varieties and styles of coats designed for this season's wear. The three that head the list, however, are the collarless coat, the scarf coat, and the cape coat. The model shown above may be a combination of the last two, for a scarf may be easily attached to the turned-up collar. The cape can be detached for a change, too or in the event of very warm weather. The coat is perfectly straight and full length although the seventh-eighth length is very new and smart when worn with a dress of the same fabric. The collar, cuffs and pockets are interestingly trimmed with Wall-of-Troy banding. Cashmere, novelty tweed, broadcloth and crepe satin are materials that will make the design suitable for any occasion during spring and summer.

SAVANT PENS SHIBATA, ON DEPARTURE LETTER FROM EVE, TELLS YOUTHS', OLD PEOPLES' WOE IN TALK

Prof. Pelham Nahl Writes To Friends In San Francisco

(The following excerpts from a letter to his many Japanese friends in San Francisco, written by Prof. Pelham Nahl who is at present in Japan, are published here with the permission of Mr. Chuzo Ohta, a close friend of Prof. Nahl.—The Editors.)

LOS ANGELES, April 22—Placing of second generation members in their chosen fields of work will be the main purpose of the J. S. C. A. of North America in establishing a $5,000 Pacific Coast headquarters, it was announced here today.

The Los Angeles chapter, with a quota of $1,500, has just completed plans for the staging of a "tag week" in the near future to carry the drive "over the top."

San Francisco and Seattle combined have been asked to raise $1,500, while $2,000 will come from Americans vitally interested in the cause of the second generation.

Sliding Door Opens
Suddenly a sliding door opened and my eyes glanced at once to see who was about to enter. No one seemed to be there, but glancing downward I noticed that near the floor was a very pretty face with her hair done up. Of course being a lover of female pulchritude no movement escaped my attention.

The little flower who entered, rose came through the door, got on her knees and then closed the door. She came forward in a very stooped position deftly adjusted the charcoal in the hibachi, said "hai" to an order or two and disappeared through the door with the same movements used on entering. As this is not an account of a banquet let it suffice that we stayed there about two hours.

On arrival in Tokyo I was taken to the Akasaka-kan, a very fair middle class hotel. I was so dazed cold in my silk socks and B. V. D. underwear that Mr. Tomita suggested my taking an immediate bath. A girl came into the room with kimono and obi and stood there holding it. I couldn't see any place to undress, looked around in a shivering way and Tomita laughed, and the girl laughed till he said, "Well, are you not going to undress?"

Unafraid Of Women
"Well! I'm not the kind of person to be afraid of any woman so I immediately stripped to my pale blue cold fish. Got into the kimono and managed to get my toes into a pair of heeless slippers."

The next day I bought heavy underwear, woolen socks and other things for my material comfort and made up my mind to be game.

The bank, Imperial Hotel and many other places for tourists were at once found and my one yen taxi bill totaled six yen. There was no use trying to get on the narrow street cars, for I had not the faintest idea where they went, besides I saw no stop signs and did not know about the red poles.
