友愛結婚に就て (一)

主 張

友愛結婚(アムール結婚)とは、法律上の結婚と異なり、精神的結合を基礎とする。法律上の結婚は、財産的利害関係の調整を目的とし、形式主義を重んじる。一方、友愛結婚は、愛と理解に基づき、形式的拘束を必要としない。現代社会においては、個人の自由と個性の尊重が求められ、友愛結婚の普及が望ましい。法律家は、友愛結婚の法的根拠を認め、その権利を保障すべきである。

Members of the Mother's Club have erected a three "Kunruy Store" booth in the auditorium where the merrymakers will be given sandwiches, "sushis", ice cream, and other refreshments free of charge. In the center of the auditorium will be erected a large flower-bedecked stand where other refreshments will be displayed for the guests.

GIRL BARES LEPER WOE

Danger Of Disease Increases Since Meiji Era

By Chie Koide
(Miss Chie Koide is a student of a girl's high school in Japan. The eradication of leprosy from Japan is one of the most important social problems confronting Nippon.—The Editors.)

Segregation is the only and absolute solution of the leper problem. It was the way by which Europe managed to escape from the danger, though, in the Middle Ages, it was threatened by the terrible prevalence of the disease. In 1665, there were no less than 2800 lepers in Norway, but as the result of complete segregation, now the number of patients has been reduced to 160. The same satisfactory results have been noticed in the ideal leper colonies at Cullin and Molokai. Medical theory and experience firmly assure us that if the segregation could be thoroughly carried out in Japan, the country would also be able to stamp out leprosy in fifty years.

One of the serious problems in connection with segregation is the problem of the separation of lepers' children from their parents. The children of lepers are, by no means, doomed to suffer their parents' fate. It has been proved that 90 percent of the children separated from their parents at birth, do not get the disease. One would shudder to see Pa: Beer? Why, you can't dye things with beer, child.

THE ROMANCE OF JAPAN

Through the Ages
By JAMES A. B. SCHERER
An Interpretive Outline of the Story of Japan from the Introduction of Buddhism in 552 A. D. to the Passage of the Manhood Suffrage Act in 1925.

...ed their emperors in totally different fashions.
Nowhere in the world can one find a more impressive symbolism of the Oriental emperor, son of Heaven and Father of his People than in the Great Altar of Heaven at Peking. Once a year, under the canopy of the star-lit skies, with all China watching, the Father of his People was wont to ascend those beautiful white marble steps and make atonement with "Old Grandfather Heaven" for his millions of children. But, New Year's night past and forgotten—let him once dare overtax them, and his families of children arose as one man and overthrew him, or perhaps even his dynasty, which having done, they calmly went back to their work, caring little who might succeed him. For two thousand years such was the history of China.

Meanwhile Japanese families dealt with their Heavenly Father in an equally inconsistent but far subtler fashion. In Japan, as in China, the families or clans have always been really supreme. But instead of falling in ostensible reverence to the throne, the great Japanese families have merely vied with one another for control of the imperial person, much as bees for control of the sovereign of the hive; and by virtue of such control, first one family or clan has ruled Japan, and then another.

Such, with brief intervals, is the history of Japan from the time of the Soga family, the first patrons of Buddhism, down to the Sei-Cho control of the very recent past. (To Be Continued)
