DELEGATES ASSEMBLE AT FRESNO, FORM CITIZENS' FEDERATION OF LEAGUES

Saburo Kido Elected First President at Convention

FRESNO, Dec. 5—(Special)—Formation of a federation of leading Japanese American citizens' leagues of the Pacific coast was the outstanding accomplishment of the two-day convention held Friday and Saturday in this city, under the auspices of the Fresno chapter of the American Loyalty League.

Saburo Kido, president of the San Francisco New American Citizens' League, was elected head of this newly formed Federation, while the vice presidents include Clarence T. Arai, president of the Progressive Citizens League of Seattle; Dr. Y. Yatabe, prominent civic leader of Fresno; and Dr. Morimoto, president of the Stockton Citizens' League.

CONVENTION IN S. F.

In order to consolidate further this Federation into a working unit, another citizens' convention to which all the citizens leagues of the Coast will be invited, will be held in March of next year in San Francisco, under the direction of the newly elected president. It was decided during the deliberation here.

The convention at Fresno opened Friday afternoon at four o'clock, under the leadership of Dr. Yatabe, one of the founders of the first citizens' league ever founded in this state, the American Loyalty League. He welcomed the various delegates in behalf of the city of Fresno. He then strongly urged the formation of a federation to unify the work being done by the leagues already in existence and those yet to be organized.

TOWNS REPRESENTED

Delegates from Visalia, Monterey, Farmersville, Tulare, Fresno, and San Francisco were present. Henry T. Uyeda, representing San Francisco, spoke briefly on the accomplishments of the league of his native city.

FETED BY F. J. A.

An elaborate banquet, given the delegates by the Japanese Association of Fresno, featured the program for the evening. K. Tomita, one of the most influential residents here, acted as the toastmaster and surprised the delegates with his fluent speech in English. Miss Miya Samoniyia of Stockton also spoke.

The rest of the evening was spent in enjoying a very delightful entertainment given by Fresno young

Emperor Will Review 40,000 Nippon Youths

TOKYO, Dec. 5—(Special)—The youths of Nippon, 40,000 strong, consisting of students of Tokyo middle schools, girls' middle schools, members of young men and young women associations, university and college students, and others, will assemble in the spacious plaza in front of the Imperial Palace on December 15 and be reviewed by His Imperial Majesty the Emperor.

NICHIBEI CLUB PLANS FETE To Sponsor International Dinner At Sho Wa Low

The Nichi-Bei Club of Lowell High School of this city will hold its fourth semi-annual international good will dinner at the Sho Wa Low on Post street on the evening of December 15.

Students of the Pacific Problems class of the school Japanese graduates, and prospective members of the club will be the guests of honor for the occasion.

The purpose of the dinner is twofold, according to Miss Lois Porter, vice-president-elect. It is to help bring the nations bordering the Pacific closer in spirit in order to keep the Pacific truly pacific, and to initiate the newly elected officers of the club.

Tamotsu Murayama, president, will act as toastmaster. The newly elected officers are as follows: Vallejo Gantner, president; Miss Lois Porter, vice-president; Modji Bagai, secretary-treasurer.

people. A clever Houdini act, a picturesque sailor dance (which was the spice of the program), a dental act, and several musical selections, rounded out an hour of delight.

The chief business of the following day was the formation of the federation. T. T. Takimoto, general secretary of the Japanese Association of America, addressed the delegates on the subject of vocational training.

The fitting climax to the conven-

20 HURT IN TOKYO BAY DECK CRASH

Terrific Winds Work Havoc With Boats During Review

TOKYO, Dec. 5—(Special)—A picture of unparalleled splendor was witnessed by Tokyo and Yokohama subjects last evening as the more than 200 men-of-war of the Japanese Navy that took part in the grand Imperial naval review illuminated their decks in the Tokyo Bay.

Members of the Imperial family, including Their Imperial Highnesses Prince and Princess Chichibu, saw the spectacle from Yokohama.

HIGH WIND PLAY HAVOC

Due to the extremely high wind of yesterday which ruffled the water during the grand review, many mishaps were reported in the Tokyo Bay. The Kamaura Maru, a vessel owned by the N. Y. K. line, carried a number of sightseeing passengers on top of an improvised shelf over the deck. This platform crashed during the rocking and reeling of the ship, and 20 persons were injured. The Osio Maru, carrying 108 Japanese Boy Scouts, strayed from its course and was lost outside of the bay. Frantic appeals from the parents of the scouts and a hurried search finally disclosed the fact that the ship finally found its way near midnight. Another party of over 100 persons on the Azuma Maru was lost for some time, as the ship got out of control due to the stiff gale. A torpedo boat from the Battleship Pittsburgh, with over sixty U. S. sailors, was found floundering in the waves. A Tokyo water patrol boat came to its rescue and towed it back to its moorings.

Of the 130 naval airplanes which took part in the review, more than ten of them made forced landings on their way back to the Kasumi-gahara airport.

CHILE SEEKS NIPPON AID

Consults Japan Quake Experts to Cut Damage

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 5—Japanese earthquake experts have been called into consultation by the Chilean authorities in order to predict disturbances more precisely and with the object of preventing loss of life. The minister of education cabled the Chilean minister at Tokyo to obtain the services of a seismologist to establish an observatory equipped with the most modern instruments here.

RELIEF WORK ON

Meanwhile the work of removing the ruins of Saturday's temblor, burying the dead, succoring the sick and injured and sheltering the homeless is proceeding.

Advices from Talca said that as a preventive measure all inhabitants are being vaccinated.

PREPARED FOR FOGS

GLASGOW, Dec. 5—(UP)—Duncan McEwan, Glasgow scientist and member of the British Association, has no fear of losing his way in rain or fog. He carried the instrument with him. The scientist possesses a perfect map of the stars, adjusted to scale—in the top of his umbrella.

LATE SAVANT AIDED STUDY OF VERRUGA

Dr. Noguchi Found Carrier of Dreaded Ancient Disease

One of the last successful researches made by Dr. Hideyo Noguchi before sailing for Africa to carry on the yellow fever experiments which resulted in his death was the determination of the carrier of Oroya fever and verruga peruana. He was associated in the work by Drs. Raymond C. Shannon, Evelyn B. Tilden and Joseph R. Tyler.

"It seems to me that the typical Japanese woman has one of the most necessary qualifications for the swimmer," Miss Meaney said. "She is determined and this is half the battle. Naturally lithe, if she were unhampered by a costume that is unnatural, she should be a swimming star with little difficulty."

IS ENTHUSIASTIC

"The men already have shown what they can do in this line. We all are very enthusiastic over the swimmers we have met, both since we arrived in Japan and at the Olympic Games.

WAS UNCOMFORTABLE

"I nearly died, never was so uncomfortable in my life. I did manage to last until dinner was over, then got into other clothes. In addition to the discomfort of the obi and the long skirts, I dislike having long sleeves dangling around.

WEARS HER HAIR LONG

However, in spite of her theories of the importance of comfort and convenience, Miss Meaney has long hair—black and wavy.

"We are all enthusiastic over Japan and we have had a wonderful time," she said.

THE WEATHER

Official Forecast: Thursday—Fair and mild gentle variable winds.

2000 JAPANESE STUDENTS STRIKE WHEN PREXY BANS STUDY OF MARX'S THEORY

Students of Hokkaido Imperial University Hold Mass Meeting Demanding Freedom of Social Science Study

SAPPORO, Dec. 5—(Special to The Japanese American News)—Ired by the action of the school authorities in expelling four students for having taken active part in the study of Marxian theory through the Social Science Research Club, 2,000 students of the Hokkaido Imperial University went on a walk-out today following a mass meeting in which a resolution demanding freedom of social research was unanimously passed by the entire student body.

Due to the extent of the strike, involving the student body of one of the leading universities in the country, and the significance of attention involved, a nationwide protest is centered on this incident.

N. Y. Japanese Consul General Off for Nippon

Among the distinguished passengers aboard the N. Y. K. liner which set sail from this port Wednesday noon for Japan was Consul General Hiroshi Saito, who had served in New York for five years and who is leaving his post on a furlough.

OROYA FEVER

Oroya fever became known in 1870, during the construction of the trans-Andean railroad. Many thousands of laborers in the region between Lima and Oroya were carried away by it. One feature of the malady was an anemia that blanched the color of the natives suffering from it; sometimes it was attended by the warty skin affection. Oroya fever and verruga came to be regarded in the popular mind as one disease.

DR. NOGUCHI SUCCEEDS

In 1928, however, Dr. Noguchi was able to cultivate the bacilli, and, in inoculating monkeys and apes, found diseases agreeing with both Oroya fever and verruga.

"The one essential point which remained to be established in order to account for the origin of the disease was the mode of infection," the report continues. "Indications pointing to direct transfer from person to person were wanting, while evidence implicating insects in the transmission existed."

PLACER FIVE SCALPS S. F.

Downs Buddhist Squad By 27-20; Yamada, Tokutomi Shine

PENRYN, Dec. 4—(Special)—The San Francisco Y. M. B. A. quintet, fresh from its victories over the San Mateo Junior College Japanese team and the San Jose Nitto Club, received an unexpected jolt at the hands of the Placer Y. M. A. Thursday night by taking the short end of a 27-20 score.

PLACER COVERS Y. SHIMIZU

Placer's fighting spirit awoke from its slumber, and before the quarter ended, Placer led 5-4. From then on Placer never relinquished its lead throughout the remainder of the game. The greatly reputed Shimizu was held in check, although he showed flashes of great basketball during the opening minutes.

WILL PLAY SHOWA

Placer Y. M. A. received a challenge from the Showa club of S. F. and will probably arrange for a game to be played in S. F. sometime during January. Placer is determined to prove that she is one of the outstanding fives of the California.

J. S. WILL HELP

The Japan Society, Holden said, started with a roll of thirty-five members but today that society, he said had a membership list of 200 including the most prominent and influential business people of the city both Americans and Japanese. The Japan Society, it was said, as vitally interested in second generation problems and that the organization feels the necessity of assisting any erstwhile project of the second generation if it would be the source of a better understanding between the two peoples.

ANTI-JAPAN MOVE ENDED

So Says Secretary of Japan Society in Seattle

SEATTLE, Dec. 1—(Special)—Emphasizing the role of Japanese-American, Ashley Holden, vice-president of the Burchard Advertising Co., of this city and secretary of the Japan Society, declared at the weekly luncheon of the young men's business club, held at the Bush Hotel on Wednesday, that the future of second generation Japanese looked upon them to create a better understanding between the Japanese and American people.

"I envy your position in that you will be able to contribute to the making of a coming Pacific era which the historians of the day are already heralding, and the responsible part which you will play in bettering the relations between the Japanese and American peoples," Holden said.

GETTING BROAD MINDED

However, he said, agitation which held sway here some ten years ago has gradually subsided and that the American people were now coming out of their shell of provincialism to look upon the world with an international vision of things and affairs.

GETTING BROAD MINDED

Ashley Holden was introduced to the members of the club by James Y. Sakamoto, editor of The Courier, as a friend of the second generation Japanese.

BIM and BUMPY
By IVEAGH LEWIS ANOTHER FAILURE

Bim and I were looking for the Wishing Stone Granny had told us about. Granny had said it was a flat stone and that it was on a hillside not far from Granny's house. "How about that flat stone over by the willow?" I suggested. "Oh that couldn't be it," Bim said. "Why not?" I asked. "It's not flat enough," Bim answered. "But Granny just said 'flat'! She didn't say how flat," I insisted. "And then I said to myself, 'I guess I'll have a try at it any way.'" So away I trotted toward the stone under the willow, while Bim ran searching over the hill. As soon as I reached that stone, I jumped onto it and walked around three times, the way Granny had said to do. "Three times around and then wish," she had said. But I couldn't think of anything to wish for! I had had a good breakfast so I wasn't hungry and didn't want to wish for anything to eat. My coat was silky and warm, so that I could not wish for a better one. My master was the best master in all the world, so I certainly did not want to wish for another. The sun was shining brightly and I couldn't ask for a nicer day.

"After all," I said to myself,
