90-lb. Japanese YMCA Five Wins Division Title

The speedy Blazing Arrow 90's won one of their closest games played this season when they defeated the strong Central Y 90's by a 17-12 score at Wesley Church Thursday, thereby winning the division title.

Both teams exchanged the lead several times during the game, and not until the final two minutes when one of the forwards and a running guard rung in a goal apiece were the Japanese boys sure of their victory.

POETRY OF JAPAN WINS HIGH PRAISE

Its Limitations and Charm Analyzed By Writer

By C. F. B. In Boston Transcript (Continued from Friday)

So if, with these limitations, Japanese poetry compared with the richer Chinese and the poetry of the West seems fragmentary and superficial at first, it is not surprising. The wonder is that there is so much of delicate charm, in verses such as this:

Of onward creeping waves That bleach the pine tree roots, How very clean the sound.

At my house The white dew of the chrysanthe-mum Dripping every day— How many life times will it take to collect

And turn into a pool? In this world of ploud, mist, sea wave, and white petals, there are lovely smiles:

In the ocean of the sky Wave clouds are rising, And the ship of the moon Seems to be rowing along Through a forest of stars.

Particularly charming is this vein in this work of a modern Japanese poet, Yone Noguchi, whose longer poems have more substance than the early ones, and yet retain the same wistful beauty. In the Lone Pine Tree, however, there is a new note, almost whimsical:—

Today under the blue sky where not one bird flies, You are singing all alone— Ah, you are a soloist of ringing voice!

I see for the first time your beauty reaching the climax, When listening to your solo.

ITS INFLUENCE The extent of the influence of either Chinese or Japanese upon English poetry is hard to estimate.

Local Japanese Scouts Take Part In Xmas Meeting

The Japanese Boy Scouts of Troop 12, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Sano, won high admirations Friday night when they showed unusual skill in marksmanship and first aid work before a huge gathering of 5000 people who gathered in the Civic Auditorium for the annual scout Christmas program.

The Japanese scouts also demonstrated the art of Japanese fencing and jujitsu. The spectators gave the Japanese boys much applause for their fine work.

The Japanese troop won second honors in the first aid year and this year they have shown much improvement. The winners for this year will be announced in the near future.

because where it is best, it is most subtle. Such a charming volume as Fir Flower Tablets by Miss Lowell and Mrs. Aschough is eloquent testimony to the growing interest in verse of the East. And elsewhere Miss Lowell has given us illustrations of "tanka" and "hokku."

Free Fantasia on Japanese Themes is very un-Japanese as a whole, (nothing is farther from Japanese than a fantasia), and yet it gives many little pictures etched with the Japanese touch, pilgrims struggling through the pines up the sacred mountain, the little boat with the curving bridge of lanterns overhead, hand drums, and rockets like wistaria clusters.

Witter Byrner had caught its spirit when he wrote the lines: She sat as white as moonlight, When the sea is still— She moved as bright as moonlight, When the sea wrestles with the shore.

It would be possible, too, to trace that subtle influence still farther, to show essentially Japanese is the mood of Miss Crapsey's spare and exquisite cinquains, where so much is left unsaid. H. D. occurs to us, too. It is said that she is more Greek and classical in her verse than any modern writer. And yet her reticence goes far beyond the "nothing too much" of the Greek.

Whirl up sea, Whirl your pointed pines, Splash your great pines On our rocks, Hurl your green over us— Cover us with your pools of fir.

The poem is called Oread, and yet we see it ever as a Japanese print. Would the Greek mountain nymph recognize it at once, or should we rather find the spot haunted by one of those shy Japanese pixies, from the land of silver-tinkling bells and white cherry blossoms, falling like the snow?

YWBA'S 'HAHA YUZURI' IS A FINE COMEDY

Will Be Feature Play At Party Given By S. F. Buddhists

A sparkling comedy, "Haha Yuzuri" (She Got It From Mother), and two other equally interesting plays will be presented by the girls of the local Y. W. B. A. at the annual "bonenkai" year-end party to be given by the San Francisco Buddhist temple tonight (Sunday) at their headquarters on Pine street.

Those who are about to be married, those who are not favored with becoming features, and those who would laugh at the idea of getting married, cannot simply afford to miss this fine comedy.

MAKE HUSBAND JEALOUS The plot of the play is full of suspense. Does the Japanese wife of today know how to make their husbands jealous? What will she do when she finds a letter from woman addressed to him in affectionate tones? Will she become angered? And how! All this will be treated in a pleasant way, keeping the audience in constant laughter.

THE OTHER PLAY, "Rusuban Kyodai" (Sisters at Home) deprives much of its plot from Shakespeare's comedies, modernized and supplemented in action with present-day girls of Portia and Nerissa types.

OTHER FEATURES "Shiwanko ka Kenyaku" (A Miser or a Thrifty Man), with its interesting educational plot, is far from being a conventional and boring drama. The other features on the program include a harmonica solo by Minoru Okamoto and musical numbers by the Sunday School girls.

The presentation of an striking scene from the famous Japanese historical play, "The Forty-Seven Ronin," is expected to arouse much interest among the older people.

The Y. W. B. A. productions are being directed by Mrs. H. Yamada. The program starts at 6:30 o'clock. The casts include:

HAHA YUZURI Mother—Misa Hashimoto; daughter—Masako Motoshi; Mr. Asai—Mikio Tsujimoto; Mrs. Asai—Haruko Enomoto; Mrs. Yukiko—Kimi Seiki; servant—Grace Suyenaga; Enomoto Hanaye—Yoshiko Itatani.

JAPANESE HOME MINISTER ENDS TOKYO'S ASSEMBLY AS RESEULT OF SCANDAL

Miss Kusakabe, Noted Musician, Is Here on Tour

Miss Yolando Kusakabe, an Italian-Japanese pianist of international fame, arrived in San Francisco Friday aboard the N. Y. K. line Shinyo Maru.

Miss Kusakabe is a graduate student of the Royal Academy of Santa Cecilia of Rome, having had all of her training under leading Italian masters of piano technique.

She has just completed a successful tour of Japan, where she was acclaimed as one of the most prominent pianists. She is now on her way back to Italy, where she intends to further pursue her study. She told the Japanese American News that she would like to go to South America some time in the future.

Miss Kusakabe is born of a Japanese father, Kusabura Kusakabe, formerly Minister of Japan to Italy, and of an Italian mother of noble lineage. She will probably give a recital in both San Francisco and Los Angeles before her departure for Italy.

New Election Will Be Conducted Within Three Months

TOKYO, Dec. 22—(Special to The Japanese American News)—The politics of Japan's capital took a decidedly interesting turn yesterday when Home Minister Keisuke Mochizuki, without previous warning and without consultation with Mayor Ichiki, dissolved the Tokyo Municipal assembly with such suddenness as to dazzle momentarily some of the veteran political figures here.

This dramatic move of Mochizuki is seen as a masterstroke of political maneuver to stem the tide of opposition to the government for the scandalous actions of the Municipal assemblymen, 25 of whom are now in prison awaiting trial in connection with the notorious bribery scandal.

TO HUSH UP AFFAIR By dissolving the assembly now before the convening of the Imperial Diet on December 24, Mochizuki hoped for a quieting of the governmental stigma. A delay would only mean that more and more government party members will be unearched as being connected with the scandal, and this fact would make it exceedingly difficult for the Seiyukai party to "hush up" the whole affair. Up to now more Minseitō party members are under arrest, but a continuance of investigation would only mean that those government factions now under indirect protection of the government party will have to be apprehended.

25 ARE IN PRISON In his message to the nation, Mochizuki declared that the dissolution was necessitated by the fact that 25 are now in prison charged with violating penal statutes and 6 have either died or resigned. The remaining number is too small for efficient legislative work, Mochizuki said. The municipal election will be held within three months.

In the meantime the business of the municipal assembly will be handled by the Tokyo prefectural assembly.

Mayor Ichiki, who was having secret conference with vice-mayors at the time the dissolution was made, immediately issued a statement in which he appealed for election of finer calibre of men at the coming election.

TO INFUSE YOUNG BLOOD The Social Democratic party, a right wing of the Japanese labor group, began at once to conduct an election campaign. In fact so well prepared were the members of this party that immediately after Mochizuki's announcement they were already making campaign plans and addresses. Itoh Abe, head of the party and member of the Imperial Diet, will head the Social Democratic ticket.

In the coming election the government party will infuse new blood in politics and put up young candidates, while the policy of the Minseitō or the chief opposition party will be to nominate leading political veterans for the assembly.

OUR JUNIOR SECTION

We received a lovely Christmas greeting from Taeko Noda. We are also glad to hear from Toshi Nagano of Salinas. Mary Sakimura of Yakima, Washington, and Haruyo A. Sasaki of Sacramento sent us very lovely Christmas cards. Here are Haruyo's riddles:

1. Why should Philadelphia be subject to earthquakes more than any other city? Ans. Because she is a Quaker City.

2. Who are the two largest ladies in the United States? Ans. Miss Iuri and Mrs. Sippi (Missouri and Mississippi).

3. Why is a careless boy like a bottle of patent medicine? Ans. When taken he should be well shaken.

—Junior— Why is the emblem of the United States more lasting than that of either France, England, Ireland, or Scotland? Answer: The Lily may fade and its leaves decay, The Roses from its stem may sever, The Shamrock and Thistle may pass away, But the Stars will shine forever.

—Junior— Of course, Haruyo, American girls and boys may join this club. We hope you write us some more of your interesting riddles and jokes.

Taniguchi, treasurer—Sam H. Tamura; secretary—Masashi Takahara; corresponding secretary—Kazuo Kushida; sergeant-at-arms—Tokio Kadotani; athletic manager—Masao Umeda; social managers—Mamoru Kawamura, James Nakaguchi; chief machinist—Chiehiro B. Yamamoto.
