DR. NAO UYEI IS HONORED BY SCIENCE BODY

Denver Chemist Finds Method To Detect Disease

DENVER, Feb. 5.—(Special)—High honors are conferred upon Dr. Nao Uyei, Japanese research chemist, and Dr. H. J. Corper, director of the research laboratory of the National Jewish Hospital of this city, who together discovered a more accurate method of detecting the presence of tuberculosis bacilli.

Dr. Uyei is the husband of former Miss Margaret Tann of San Francisco, who had held the position of religious director of the Japanese Methodist Church here.

As a result of their joint discovery the research department of the hospital was awarded a $500 award for the most important contribution to the study of tuberculosis during the past 10 years.

Comment accompanying the announcement declared that the use of the Irish potato in detecting tuberculosis bacilli, which was discovered by these men, is being adopted by sanatoriums throughout the nation.

The money will be used to continue research toward a discovery of an actual cure for the disease, Dr. Corper said yesterday.

DISCOVERED 4 YEARS AGO The use of the Irish potato for detecting the presence of the tuberculosis bacilli was discovered four years ago by Drs. Corper and Uyei.

Up to that time guinea pigs, congealed eggs, serum and gelatin had been used. The guinea pig had been found best, but it was not entirely satisfactory because of the necessity for feeding, because it developed other diseases and because the tuberculosis bacilli could not be discovered quickly enough, according to Dr. Corper.

The Irish potato, however, furnished a method that was simpler, simpler, more economical and more accurate. All the physician has to do is an incubator and potatoes, Dr. Corper added.

USE MONEY FOR RESEARCH "The next step will be to discover exactly what material in the potato stimulates the growth of the tuberculosis bacilli," Dr. Corper said.

"We shall use the award to continue our research in that direction. If we can discover just what material is starch, protein, vitamins, etc.—we shall have advanced another step toward the discovery of a cure."

By discovering this material Dr. Corper said that doctors would get an indication of what part of the human tissue to strengthen to combat the disease.

One of the leading dailies of this city contained the following editorial in a recent issue:

TWO UNITE IN RESEARCH Doctors Corper and Uyei—names which denote that East and West can come together under the twin banner of humanity and research—are entitled to the thanks of more than abstract science for being able to substitute an Irish potato for a live animal in their investigations of tuberculosis.

Animal lovers the world over will thank them and pray that they may be able to extend their work to wider fields through the use of vegetable subjects.

WELL KNOWN INSTITUTION Research work of the pathologists at the National Jewish Hospital in Denver has been accepted by the most influential scientific organization in the country and the money award given will be employed in the same good cause.

The hospital in question has a splendid record not only in advancing the cause of pure research in a field that it has made its own, but in alleviating the sufferings of unfortunate human beings. Its distinguishing characteristic is that it is scientific and at the same time humanitarian. It has a noble tradition to uphold in both discovery and charity which has been translated into love.

American Born Japanese Prima Donna Stirs Interest of New York Critics As She Flashes into Opera Stardom

NEW YORK—The colorful career of a demure Japanese diva, a native of Phoenix, Arizona, whose spectacular rise to fame has been the subject of much discussion among the music critics of the metropolis, is today being studied with keen appreciation.

Born of a Japanese father and an American mother in Phoenix, Madame Haru Onuki spent her early life in Seattle, Washington, and there sang her way to fame that is by no means national but has taken on an international scope. She is a singer of excellent reputation in the United States and England and she has added to her crown another laurel when she scored an enormous success in London recently.

STARTS TO SING AT NINE While living in Seattle, her musical ability was recognized so early that at nine she was singing the solos in a church for the children's Easter exercises, and at thirteen was appointed soloist in the choir, a position she retained until she was seventeen. Her artistic rendering of church music led her to be invited to sing in a cinema which was showing a picture of Christ. In that way she reached Chicago, where she sang in a restaurant for several months, and, going to New York, became the soloist for Sousa's band.

APPEAR AT HIPPODROME So vivid was the impression she made that she was engaged for the Big Show at the New York Hippodrome, which holds 5,000 people.

With "Poor Butterfly," a song specially written for her, she scored an enormous success. That success inspired her to study for grand opera.

After working with Jean de Reszke and other famous teachers, she made her debut in Madame Butterfly in 1919, after which London acclaimed her in selections from classical opera at the Coliseum. A long illness then kept her from the stage, and on her return to America she joined the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, with which she sang Mimi in Boheme, Nedda in Pagliacci, and Madame Butterfly.

For the main attraction of the program will be a delightful presentation of dramatized folk songs of old Japan, with all their color and melody.

The program is replete with carefully selected numbers by prominent local second generation talents. There will be a variety of instrumental numbers, including those on the piano, trumpet, saxophone, harmonica, and the Japanese biwa. A vocal trio by leading Japanese girl singers of the Bay district and a stringed trio, besides a piano solo by Miss Eugenia Savage, popular pianist of this city, are some of the attractions of the night.

The committee now actively engaged in preparing for the program is composed of the Misses Toshi Takao and Toshi Koba, publicity and arrangement; the Misses Edith Tsuruda, Mary Hasegawa, Marian Nakahara, and Mr. Milton Horichi, program.

The details of this concert were discussed Monday night at the home of Miss Marian Nakahara on Sutter street. Those present were: Mr. K. Suzuki and Rev. Tsuruda, Misses Mary Nakahara, Edith Tsuruda, Toshi Takao, Toshi Koba, Yuki Kuwahara, Mrs. Takao, Mrs. Moriyama, and Mr. Milton Horichi.

QUEEN OF THE SEAS Construction of what will be the world's largest liner is being rushed at Belfast. The vessel, however, requires about three years to complete. It will be at least 1,000 feet in length, with a beam of more than 100 feet, and is intended for the Southampton-New York passenger service.

Dottie Hirotsu of Walnut Grove is voting for the mudhen. Here is Dottie's interesting description of the mudhen: The mudhen looks something like a duck. The body is all black, and the bill has a kind of a white collar. There are lots of them around our town's river.

BRIGHT FUTURE OBSERVED FOR JAPANESE IN BRAZIL

85,000 Nipponese Immigrants Enjoy Equal Treatment With Citizens; 400 Take Advantage of Naturalization Rights

By KUMAICHI HORIGUCHI (Continued from yesterday)

In this connection, it must be noted that the free grant of land often proves a financial burden upon the recipients who are forced to spend an enormous sum of money for the various improvements of the land so that it is often more economical to purchase fertile lands than to receive as free concession waste lands which are frequently visited by plagues and inundations. Free concession has been a peculiar temptation for Japanese enterprisers who while at home had always entertained an earnest desire to possess lands.

MEDICAL MEN PROSPER Formerly, the Japanese residents in Brazil were manual laborers who worked on the plantations. Their social position in consequence had to be elevated if Japan was to enjoy an equal standing with other foreign nations in Brazil. Fortunately, however, young physicians and other medical men have crossed the Pacific to that South American country, passed examinations for medical practice, and are now patronized by the Brazilians because of their skill and learning.

When I returned from Brazil some years ago, I was often asked about the security of ownership in Brazil. The question was natural in view of the dispute about land ownership in the United States. I am happy to be able to state that just the opposite thing prevails in Brazil as regards the ownership of land. In the first place, the Brazilian Constitution declares in Section 2, Article 72 that "all men are equal before law." Again Article 3 in the Civil Code says: "Law shall not discriminate between natives and foreigners as regards the acquisition and exercise of private rights." The Japanese subjects in Brazil thus possess every right that the Brazilian people possess before law. I am inclined to believe that no other country is more liberal towards foreign residents.

NO RACE PREJUDICE The Brazilian people do not show any racial prejudice against our immigrants. This may be explained partly from the fact that they themselves are a mixed race, composed of the Yellow, White, and Black Races. The Brazilian natives resemble Japanese so closely that the latter are often mistaken for them while traveling in the interior regions.

There is another point which makes Brazil an attractive place for us Japanese and that is the easiness with which the Japanese can be naturalized. Our immigrants in the United States are handicapped by the law preventing their becoming the citizens of that republic however long they may have resided in that country. There is no such a handicap for them in the Brazilian Republic. The only condition for naturalization is the residence qualification which is fixed at two years.

400 NATURALIZED The exact number of naturalized Japanese in Brazil is not available, but I venture to believe that there are three or four hundred naturalized Japanese. This right of naturalization is very important when one remembers the fact that the ban on the Japanese residents in the states of Washington and California to own land is based upon the fact that they are aliens for whom the Federal Constitution does not recognize the right of naturalization.

Viewed from all angles, the future of Japanese immigrants in Brazil is bright indeed. Our people should never have any fear of anti-Japanese movement in that country for there is no such possibility, and should send both men and capital to that great South American Republic. This, I am convinced, will have the effect of cementing the bond of friendship now happily existing between that country and ours.

U.S. CRUISER BILL STIRS COMMENT

JAPAN PROGRAM WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY U. S. BILL

TOKYO, Feb. 5.—Tentative approval by the United States Senate of the three year time clause in the pending cruiser bill aroused some comment in Japanese naval circles today.

A spokesman for the naval ministry expressed the opinion that the Senate's approval of the cruisers, with the time clause, would not affect Japan's present naval program, although it might affect building plans after 1931.

He was asked if he thought the Senate action might accelerate the date of convening of the new naval limitation conference set for 1931. He answered that it was impossible to tell, remarking that it was probable that Great Britain and Japan would welcome an earlier date to facilitate their making plans for the future.

ly known as "Coffee", who is now traveling through the Island Empire with his family wrote a letter to one of his friends in Sacramento. The letter is written at Nagasaki, dated Dec. 12. "I had a keen trip across the Pacific. The ship only rocked for two days and the rest of the 13 days were like riding on a Cadillac. I couldn't make myself get sea-sick 'cause, you know, the Scotchman is pretty tight, so he don't believe in giving the fish the meals he once enjoyed. I spend a day in Honolulu. That isn't a bad place. It's much better than Sact'o. But, Oh Boy! there plenty of tough looking guys out there, tho!"

SHAVINGS Miss Agness Miyakawa, who was confined in bed for a while with cold, was seen up last Sunday afternoon. Her farewell recital will be held in Sacramento sometime in March.

Miss Aiyee Aoki, another budding artist of this city, is planning to give a piano recital this spring. Joe Oyama is now working for an American family on 22nd and K streets. He took the job where Iwao Jimbo was working formerly who quit when he finished the high school last January. Joe is receiving fifteen dollars a month.

Miss Alice Mayeda, the pianist, will leave the city for Fresno coming Saturday where she will aid Tomoe Nagai's vocal recital. Sacramento is now pretty sure that she is going to have spring very soon. For the first time after a long time of dark and cloudy days, Sacramento was visited with the smiling sun and its shine last Monday.

Editor of the Junior Section also sent the writer the letter that "Smokey Kuwamoto" wrote to him, dated Jan. 30. It is a masterpiece! The "Sacramento" will print it in his column as he deems it belongs here and no other place in this paper.

The letter said, "Dear Editor: I want to vote for the mud-hen too, because it reminds me of a little friend I had before they put him in jail. I am dumb and deaf but I am glad that I am not blind, so I can read the Junior Club." His joke:

"Boy at Zoo: Mama doesn't that monkey look like Phleggie?" Mother: Sh— you mustn't say that. Boy: That's all right, the monkey can't understand."

MY ADDRESS The writer of this column believes that if those who are not eligible for the Junior Section would write some jokes to him they would make this column interesting to everybody. His Address is 2106 Third street.
