JAPAN PRINCE TO ARRIVE IN CALIF. IN 1931

Entourage Will Visit U. S. on Way Home From Europe

Special To The Japanese American News TOKYO, Feb. 27.—Their Imperial Highness Prince and Princess Takamatsu, whose wedding was auspiciously observed at the Imperial Palace early this month, will visit the United States in March of 1931 on their way home from a tour of Europe, it was indicated here today by officials close to the prince.

Their sojourn in America will be about a month, and most of this time will be spent on the Pacific Coast, where there is a large population of Japanese residents, it was revealed here.

The Imperial couple will leave Japan this spring for Europe. The trip will be in part a return courtesy for the visit of His Royal Highness Duke of Gloucester, who came here recently to bestow the Royal Order of the Garter upon His Majesty the Japanese Emperor in commemoration of the latter's ascension to the throne.

On his way to Great Britain, Prince Takamatsu will stop in Spain to confer a Japanese Imperial Order upon King Alfonso. After an extensive tour of European countries, the entourage will return by way of the United States.

Princess Takamatsu, before her marriage, was Miss Kikuko Tokugawa, scion of a distinguished line.

PETE TAKES UP JAPANESE AT INSTITUTE

Italian Boy, 9, Good Pal of Classmates At Sanger Gakuen

Special To The Japanese American News FRESNO, Feb. 27.—For good many decades past, the general trend and movement of world's culture and education has been that of Westernization, the Orient rapidly merging to the Occident.

So when little Pete Gianini, 9 years old, bright-eyed son of Mrs. P. Gianini, widow of prominent rancher and shipper of Sanger enrolled in the primary department of the Sanger Japanese language school, there was no little curiosity aroused among the Japanese pupils, and only for a brief interval did he enjoy the limelight of interest.

However, his earnestness, and willingness to acquire for himself the language and culture of the Flower Empire, have quickly won for the novelty of his case, and at present he diligently recites and writes his "Tro ha's," with the best of them.

During noon periods he may be observed unconcernedly munching his spaghetti and rye bread, side by side, with his Japanese co-pupils eating their "gohan." Swarthy son of Naples, rubbing elbows with smiling sons of the "Rising Sun," but Americans all.

These acts are significant of a world redeemed from the crass grasp of racial barriers, cause of countless centuries of blighted and misery.

CHARTER IS GIVEN TROOP

Japanese Scouts Get Help of Petaluma Business Men

Special To The Japanese American News PETALUMA, Feb. 27.—Petaluma Japanese Troop No. 20, Boy Scouts of America, received its official charter last week-end at the Charter Night ceremonies conducted at the local Sunday School building.

M. Clarence Miller, prominent realtor and president of the Petaluma Area Council of B. S. A., made the presentation. Due to lack of adult American-born Japanese citizens here, three prominent Petaluma men consented to act as officers of the Japanese troop. They are Clarence Miller, realtor; Chief of Police Flohr, chairman of the court of honor; J. Nisson, proprietor of the Pioneer Hatchery and scoutmaster of the Lion's Club troop.

Other supporters are Wm. T. Lindsay, whose kind interest and initiative were factors in the organization of Troop 20; and Harry Batchelor, first deputy commissioner; V. Mattel, business man and member of the council; and L. Monarch, business man and member of the Council; C. Engell, scoutmaster of Troop 8.

The charter presentation was preceded by introduction of the American officials to the Japanese scouts. The latter took pledge of allegiance to the flag and participated in rope tying contest, dressing race, fire-tying, etc.

Chief of Police Flohr presented Henry K. Fujita with his commission as scoutmaster. This was followed by Harry Batchelors presentation of insignia, pins, and membership cards to George Fujita, Mike Hirooka, Yoshio Kawahara, Jim Shigeo Miyano, Masami Miyano, Rlyuo Uyeda, Yoshiki Uyeda.

THE LONE - WOLF FARMER

BY GLENN FRANK

Among all American economic enterprises, agriculture has been the most stubborn stronghold of individualism.

The farmer has been by temperament and by training an individualist.

And he is today suffering the fate of the individualist in a corporate age, an age in which the big things are accomplished through group action.

The farmer is too much addicted to playing the lone wolf at a time when business men, industrialists, and bankers are operating through group organization.

The farmer's inherited individualism is hampering him in all phases of his enterprise.

It is hampering him in finance. Agriculture requires longer term credit than industry. But its lack of group organization puts it at a disadvantage with industry in the race for credit.

If American farmers acted as much in concert as business men and industrialists and bankers act, they would be less dependent upon the coming and going of politically devised credit schemes.

It is hampering him in marketing. The distributive system of the nation is a highly organized corporate action. The lone wolf farmer is lost in the market place even though he superlatively successful in the corn field as a producer.

It is hampering him in the full use of machinery. Much of research in agricultural engineering simply cannot be applied in the present all-too-individualistic system of farming. There are many conceptions of farm machinery which it will not pay to translate from the experimental to the working stage because our farm units are too small for their profitable application.

If the lone wolf farmer were only more group-minded we should see whole farming communities owning and using cooperatively machinery that can now be used only on large landed estates.

It is hampering him in the full and fruitful use of the results of research on farm problems. We are not making full use of the results already achieved in private and public laboratories. If farmers acted in community and regional groups, their central organization would be more likely to see to it that these research results were translated into usable form for all the individual farms in the group.

The agricultural part of America must organize as the rest of American life is being organized or the farmer will be lost in the shuffle.

That the farmer is waking up to the necessity of such organized group action is one of the brightest spots on the horizon of America's future.

QUOTA PLAN FOR MEXICO IN CONGRESS

Stay of Immigration From Latin America Sought

Article Reprinted by Courtesy of The S. F. News WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Immigration problems of the west have taken the center of the stage at this session of Congress as they never have before.

A serious effort is being made to pass some kind of restrictive legislation applying to Mexicans and other Latin Americans. The Welch Filipino exclusion bill is waiting action. Though no measure has yet been introduced proposing a quota basis for Orientals this matter has been discussed repeatedly in the past year.

These issues are all vital in the west. The situation at present is this: The Senate immigration committee has reported favorably the Harris bill putting all countries in the western hemisphere except Canada on a quota basis.

However, a well organized move is under way in the Senate to halt all discussion of Mexican quotas for this session at least by creating a commission to study labor conditions in agricultural districts in the west.

MAY REACH VOTE The House immigration committee has completed extensive hearings on the subject and a sub-committee is at work framing a modified version of the Johnson and Box bills which are before it.

Unless the move for a commission is successful, the Mexican quota problem will probably be discussed in both Houses of Congress, and probably be voted upon.

The author of the commission plan, though, is Sen. McNary of Oregon, chairman of the agriculture committee, and assistant Republican floor leader. He expects to be able to pass this and pauperism provisions of the immigration law.

Of the 6263 persons legally admitted, 52.3 per cent were Mexicans who crossed the border illegally. But in the United States outside of the quota no matter what regulatory law is passed, since they were students or members of other classes exempted from quotas.

Of course no figures are available as to the number of Mexicans who crossed the border illegally. But in this respect the situation will not be changed by passage of restriction measures.

The Welch bill for exclusion of Filipinos will probably not be taken up for hearings in committee until there is some indication as to what the attitude of Congress will be this year toward Philippine independence. At present hearings are being held on this subject.

FILIPINOS INCREASE Filipinos now come to this country without restriction, and estimates of the number actually here vary greatly.

Files compiled by the California Joint Committee on Immigration show that 5517 entered at San Francisco in the fiscal year ended last June 30th. At Seattle there were 4969. Figures at Los Angeles were not available.

This committee estimates Filipinos have been coming to the country at an average rate of 8000 a year until last year when the number increased to about 12,000. It estimates there are 63,000 Filipinos in Hawaii, and a number almost as great on the Pacific Coast.

On the other hand the Filipino Federation of America claims there are about 10,000 Filipinos in Hawaii and about 12,000 on the coast.

This lack of definite information makes it impossible to estimate Filipino quotas if a proposal should be made to adopt this status for them.

The Welch proposal to exclude Filipinos entirely by declaring them ineligible to citizenship is closely tied in with discussion of possible quotas for Orientals.

QUOTAS URGED If the Welch bill should be acted upon it would be a definite indication that Oriental quotas are not to be considered.

On the other hand, if Orientals are given a quota, Filipinos might be placed on that basis also.

Those who are now favoring a quota for Japanese and Chinese argue that the number coming into the country each year would be negligible. They urge that it would improve relations between this country and the Far East without causing an influx of yellow peoples on the Pacific Coast.

At present Japan and China each have a quota of 100, the maximum fixed for each country, but it can be filled only with non-Asiaties living in those countries.

If they were put on a quota, and if national origins remains the basis for fixing quotas, the number of Chinese admitted each year would be 105. The number of Japanese would be 107.

But the situation would be vastly different if national origins should be abandoned.

This new quota basis became law only after five years of bitter fighting and by a one to two vote margin.

Filipino Row Sends Man to Hospital and White Girl to Cell

Special To The Japanese American News A fight over a white girl on Bush street in the Japanese community sent one Filipino to Central Emergency Hospital early Thursday and another Filipino and the girl to the city prison.

Victor Aranas, 125 Doranias Ave. was in the hospital after being struck over the head with a revolver by Joseph Ponsal, 747 Geary street, in the apartment of Julia Ross at 2052A Bush street. The girl was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail by Judge Lazarus.

In the Senate. There is at present a well organized movement in Congress to secure its repeal. The attempt will be made sometime this winter. President Hoover is on record in opposition to national origins quotas.

CARGER THAN EUROPE: If Congress should put Orientals on a quota basis and should then return to the old plan of quotas based on two per cent of the foreign born of each nationality in this country in 1890 a much greater number of Orientals would be admissible. The Chinese quota would be 2120 a year, the Japanese quota 100.

But the year 1890 as a basis for quotas was fixed after long and bitter debate. There is a constant possibility that it too may be changed. If 1900 should be agreed on in-

JAPAN LINES TO BID FOR SEA TRADE

2 Pacific Lines Plan Co-ordination For Efficiency

That Japan is planning to make a strong bid to retain its share of the trans-Pacific trade in the face of ship construction programs of American and Canadian lines was contained in advices received here today.

Co-ordination of the great Japanese companies of Nippon Yusen Kaisha and Osaka Shosen Kaisha is being talked about in financial and official circles, the advices say.

"The communication ministry authorities are well aware that Japan's predominance over this most important steamship service could be realized by the co-ordination of the country's two largest shipping companies," says a dispatch from Nippon.

"The basic policies sponsored by the communications ministry in this connection are the unification of parallel steamship services, possession of shares of the two companies in exchange, exchange of directors of these companies, readjustment of their overseas branches, and unification of service or capital of their subsidiary companies," says the dispatch.

The two companies are understood to look upon the proposed interrelation project with disfavor, having long been headed by leaders of opposite group.

Salt Lake Nisei Club Encourages Study of Nippon

Special To The Japanese American News SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 27.—Much interest is being shown here by the second generation young people in the culture of Japan following a series of study on this subject conducted by the Nisei Club.

Four able speakers, each presenting vivid pictures of Japan, impressed their audience last Friday night at the local Church of Christ.

George Asahina spoke on "Mythical Japan." He was followed by Edward Hashimoto, whose talk on "The Origin of the Japanese People" proved to be a stimulating discussion. The other speakers were Joy Ushie, who talked on "Shotoku Taishi," and George Kloguchi. The latter spoke on "Yamato Take-no-Mikoto."

The club will conduct a study of Medieval Japan at the next meeting, it was announced by President Yasuo Sasaki.

Joe and June Kurumada were welcomed to the society at the last meeting, which was marked by a social period and refreshments following the talks.

stead, then under a quota, 1631 Chinese could come to this country and 496 Japanese. If the basis is made 1910, this would admit 1135 Chinese and 1356 Japanese. If 1920 is agreed on, the figures would be 871 Chinese and 1650 Japanese. Both these figures are larger than the quotas allotted many European countries.

SENTIMENTS UNCHANGED: If the quota is extended to Hindus, now excluded along with Orientals, 100 would be admitted under either national origins or the old 1890 quota system. The number would be proportionately greater if later years were substituted.

This question, too, will precipitate a fight if it is brought to a vote. There seems to have been little change in sentiment in Congress since 1924 when the present law was adopted.

JUNIORS! LET'S ALL SEE RED CROSS DOLL EXHIBIT

JUNIORS and SENIORS, every one who is a member of the Club who lives near enough, we have a delightful invitation. All of us are invited to come to the offices of the Junior Red Cross in San Francisco to look at the presents—doll and other things—that have been sent by the Junior Red Cross of Japan to Junior Red Cross members in the United States (and other places too, I think—I'm not sure).

We are going on this next Saturday morning, March 1st. Every member of the Japanese American Club, Junior and Senior is cordially invited.

PLACE OF MEETING: OUR PLACE OF MEETING is the PUBLIC LIBRARY, at the Civic Center. If it is not raining we'll meet outside the building, on the steps at the right, nearest the children's room. If it is raining we'll meet in the hall just outside. But of course we must be careful not to block the doorway. We'll stay near the right-hand wall.

TO SENIORS: Seniors, you who live near enough, you who live near enough, will you please be so kind as to help me make this outing pleasant for the Juniors? I am asking you SENIORS to come earlier than the Juniors, please. Of course if you are bringing Juniors with you, bring them early too.

TIME OF MEETING: SENIORS please be there at 10:15 Saturday morning. I'll be there by that time too. And Miss Marian Nanbu will be there.

JUNIORS, please be there at 10:30 Saturday morning.

REMEMBER: Main Public Library, Civic Center, San Francisco, Saturday morning, March 1st, at 10:15 for Seniors and at 10:30 for Juniors.

It will be very pleasant, I am sure. From the library we shall go together to the Junior Red Cross rooms. They are not in the library. So be sure to get to be at the library in time so that we can go together.

WE'LL GET ACQUAINTED: It will be great fun to get better acquainted, won't it? You will call me "Obasan," won't you? And remind me of your names even if I ought to know them? I'm good at remembering people, but not so good as I wish I were at remembering names. So please help me.

If your people prefer to have an older member of your family come with you of course he or she will be welcome to come with us.

But otherwise only Club members are invited this time.

OTHER MEMBERS: Members who live too far away to come, we do wish that you could join us! I promise that we will tell you about it. Members who go, please write about it for those who

DOLL'S FETE IS DESCRIBED

Weekly Contains Fine Articles On Hina Matsuri

Dolls, the history of their special Festival in Japan, customs connected with Hina Matsuri, a story about one of them, pictures of them—this weekly must be seen by everybody who likes dolls!

Two editorials appear this time. But one of them—"When the Dolls Come Alive," is very short. The other subject, "Industrialization of Farms," will convince you that this week's issue of the Weekly is not exclusively for girls.

The retirement from the ring of I. Soko Yama is the subject of Victor Yamakawa's interesting sports column this time.

Kay Nishida lists and describes the work of the leading contemporary writers in Japan. A valuable guide, this, for those of us who aspire to read in the Japanese language the things that are most worth reading.

The biography of Hideo Noguchi ends this time.

The year's poems by their Majesties are translated, with an account of the Poetry Party. The prize poems will appear next week.
