SAC TO BOYS GET PRAISE FOR CHARITY

Troop 25 Entertains
Homeless Children
At Orphanage

Special To The Japanese American News
SACRAMENTO, April 29—"A good turn" of the Boy Scouts Troop 25 brought an abundant of joy to the faculty and children of the local Orphanage and Children's Home recently by a mere act of turning something that were otherwise to be thrown to waste.

It occurred to a member of the troop that an enormous amount of lettuce, piled high under the shed of the Nojiri Produce, was to be thrown away to waste on account of the present low price of the vegetable, might not be used for some good cause. The matter was brought before the meeting one night, and the boys decided to pack them and send to the orphanage.

The permission having been obtained from the proprietor of the Nojiri Produce, the boys rapidly packed the lettuce into seventeen crates and were delivered to the orphanage.

Glad were the "mothers" of the institution that it brought a beautiful letter of thanks to the boys of the Troop 25. The letter in part follows:

"My dear Mr. Murray: Please express to the boys of Troop 25, our thanks for their kindness in packing and giving the lettuce to the Orphanage.

"It was a great help to us and was a wonderful way to express their interest in our home."

The troop was invited last Sunday afternoon to the institution where they were able to do another "good turn" by entertaining the homeless children with their skilled stunts and harmonica band. The boys also presented four dollars and fifty cents of their own "ice cream money" to the children of the Home, and made them extremely happy.

The trip is led by Scoutmaster Geo. F. Murray and his able assistant Harry Mayeda. It is the same honored troop that went to Japan Last Summer.

ORIENT FRUIT MARK'T POOR

So States Chrocheron
In Address Before
Trade Body

California fruit growers, despite better prices as a result of newly developed markets in the Orient, are doomed to disappointment so far as the immediate future is concerned.

There is no possibility of increasing fresh fruit shipments to eastern Asia and only by extended, sustained and expensive promotion methods can any worth while additional demand for canned and dried fruits be created.

Such efforts should be made, but would require 10 to 25 years for their results to become noticeable in benefits to American producers.

U. C. MAN IN SURVEY

These conclusions, reached by Prof. B. H. Crocheron of the University of California after an exhaustive investigation in the far east, were reported by him Monday to members of the Foreign Trade Club, the State Chamber of Commerce, the Dried Fruit Ass'n and the Canners' League.

In accordance with this general purpose, "Stack Thirty-eight" is provided with desks and other facilities for scholars, and numerous Chinese students seeking doctors' degrees from American universities are to be found there, engaged in advance research work.

Among the Chinese treasures recently acquired for "Stack Thirty-eight" are four albums containing 46 paintings on silk to show Chinese Tilling and Weaving in the seventeenth century. The paintings were executed by Chicago Ping-chia and have been pronounced original. These were presented to the Library of Congress by Mrs. William H. Moore of New York City.

RARE COLLECTIONS

The largest recent accession in the field of Chinese literature, was the family library of Wang Shan-ao, of Tientsin. This collection numbers 1,644 titles in 22,100 volumes. Eighty-seven of these works are old manuscripts ranging from the fifteenth to the early part of the ninth century; 94 are rare and beautiful palace editions; 1 is a printed book of the twelfth century; and 276 are "Mine editions," printed between 1668 and 1644 A. D.

The Library of Congress, in a recent report, acknowledged its indebtedness to T. L. Yuan, associate director of the Metropolitan Library, Peking, for the unflinching interest he has shown in the Chinese collection by recommending from time to time important items which the Library should have.

YAMAMOTO IN STOCK SCHEME

SEIYUKAI DENIES RUSE TO DEMORALIZE MARKET

Special To The Japanese American News

TOKYO, April 28—The Minseito party headquarters today warned the Cabinet that Jotaro Yamamoto, former Selyukai politician and former president of the South Manchurian Railway, is planning with the aid of his Selyukai investors and brokers to flood the stock markets by placing 100,000 stocks for sale in Osaka and 130,000 in Tokyo simultaneously.

The advice hints that this huge manipulation is being arranged for the purpose of demoralizing the market, thus hastening the downfall of the present Hamaguchi Cabinet. With this report in hand, Kenzo Adachi, Minister of Home Affairs, issued orders to his aides for immediate investigation of the matter.

The Selyukai completely denied this charge today, declaring the report is merely a ruse on the part of the Minseito to direct the attention of the public from the ever-aggravating economic depression that now faces the Empire.
