COMMENTS

By A. M.

In closing his message to the second generation, Consul General Wakasugi says, "Realize that the time when the diploma of schools or colleges spoke for good positions has passed some twenty years ago even in Japan, and that the only way to work out your own salvation is to put into practice the motto, 'God helps them that help themselves.'"—A great many of the older second generation members have already discovered that the piece of paper they received from college did not help much when it came to getting a job.—But for the thousands of younger folks who are visioning caps and gowns and rolls of paper with their names on it, and for the thousands of fond mothers and fathers who are dreaming of their sons and daughters coming out of college perfect and finished specimens ready for a prime minister's position or at least a bank president's job, the consul general's warning will be something to seriously and honestly think about.

A headline reads 'Beauty and pomp mark church ceremonies.' St. Ignatius college is celebrating its 75th birthday.—We don't know anything about Catholicism nor Buddhism but we have attended ceremonies at Catholic churches and Buddhist temples and have been deeply impressed.—What is it that appeals to us when we understand neither the language nor the symbols of either religion? We think that it is the beauty of the surroundings and of the services.—Surely, it seems to us, the Protestant churches and religious life will not be hurt by more beauty.

An advertisement urges us to eat more cranberries.—Why satiate ourselves with cranberries before the dinner of dinners arrives, namely, the Thanksgiving dinner? It seems like a sacrifice to make of cranberry a common, ordinary thing like apple jelly, somehow.

Dinosaur eggs have been found in Montana.—A. M. can imagine how elated the paleontologists and other scientists are halting this discovery. Just imagine! Now we rank with Mongolia in dinosaur eggs!—Eons ago it doesn't make any difference how many millions of years ago because even the scientists themselves differ by a few millions among themselves) these monstrous lizard-like creatures roamed the earth. According to their size, perhaps they dominated the earth. Then they suddenly disappeared. Why, no one knows. Some say because their brains were too small. Anyway, they disappeared.—Here we are, homo sapiens, masters of this earth for the present.—We wonder if eons from now, we will be extinct replaced by some creature with higher intelligence.

BERKELEY, Oct. 13.—The Berkeley skies that were grey and oppressive in the morning last Sunday, cleared in the afternoon by the time the great jester was offered and the curtain dropped for the 1930 conference of the Young People's Christian conference of Northern California and the delegates from the various sections of this part of the state scattered in different directions to take their homeward ways with their hearts full of inspiration and renewed strength and vision.

An impressive installation service was conducted during the last session of the annual conference which was held from 3 p. m. at the First Congregational church. Dr. F. H. Smith, superintendent of the Pacific Coast Japanese missions, led the service before the 450 assembled delegates.

Those who were installed to offices in the 1931 executive board were: Henry Takahashi, chairman; Toshimi Ogawa, 1st vice-chairman; Hiroshi Yamashita, 2nd vice-chairman; Miss Yoneo Taniuchi, recording secretary; Miss Misaki Iijima, corresponding secretary; Dave Takano, treasurer; and George Koba, assistant treasurer.

While the young Christians bowed their heads in silence, George Furuta, baritone, of Oakland, rendered a vocal solo entitled, "My Task."

Dr. Tully Knolcs, president of the College of Pacific in Stockton, delivered a fitting address as the climax to the three-day conference in the late Rev. Kato, one of the founders of the Y. P. C. C., Henry Takahashi read two poems, "To the Ones Gone Before," by Longfellow, and the other "The Last Pilot." Mrs. M. H. Redfield rendered an organ solo, "Crossing the Bar."

The delegates were feted at four Japanese churches for luncheon. The churches were the Alameda M. E., south, Oakland M. E., Oakland M. E., south, and Berkeley United Christian church.

43 Tons Election Literature To Be Mailed This Week

Forty-three tons of election literature will go into the mails for San Francisco's 228,982 voters this week, according to Registrar Collins. Nineteen tons represents the booklet containing the proposed amendments to the State Constitution. The bulk of the remainder relates to San Francisco charter amendments, ordinance and bond propositions. The mailing costs to the taxpayers will be $10,286. The literature for the November 4 general election consists of a sample ballot; a polling place location card; two booklets and twelve one-page enclosures.

MISS S. TAKAI WEDS KANO

Sac'to Girl Marries Long Beach Civil Engineer

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 13.—Miss Shigeno Takai of Seattle became the bride of Mr. Taro Kano of Long Beach, Saturday evening, October 11, at the First Japanese Baptist church. The wedding ceremony was officiated from 8:00 p. m. by Rev. Mr. Hijikata, and was lovely in its unusual simplicity. There were no attendants, but the bride was a picture of loveliness in an afternoon gown of pale blue with a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church. With Mr. Machida as the chairman, congratulatory speeches were given by Messrs. Oki and Kumagai, and Rev. Mr. Hijikata, and songs were rendered by Misses Bessie Takao and Lorraine Teuda. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Motokichi Takai of Seattle, who recently came back to Sacramento to reside again after an absence of about ten years. She was a student at the University of Washington while in Seattle. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Kano of Long Beach and a graduate of the University of Southern California. He is at present employed as a civil engineer in the road department of one of the counties in Southern California, being one of the very few second generation people to be employed by the U. S. government.

Social Notes

MR. WAKASUGI'S MESSAGE TO SECOND GENERATION

Editor's note—Feeling that Consul General Kaname Wakasugi's address delivered at the recent gathering of the Christian young people of northern California is of vital interest to young people and their parents everywhere, we are printing the speech in full.

By Consul Gen. Kaname Wakasugi
You, the second generation, are American citizens by virtue of the constitution of the United States. You have all the rights and privileges as well as all the duties and obligations as American citizens. It is essential for you, therefore, that thorough Americans in order to be good citizens. It is good not only for this country, but for the common interests of both United States and Japan.

But your mission is a little larger and loftier than being simply 100 per cent Americans. You are Americans by nationality and Japanese by inheritance. You stand in an unique position and are favored with an enviable privilege of playing a most important role in the promotion of peace and prosperity of our two great sister nations facing each other across the Pacific.

If you look at the recent trend of world affairs, you will find that the Pacific is tending to be more and more the theatre of human activities for centuries to come. No one can deny that the United States and Japan, two most powerful nations on the Pacific, one representing the most advanced of the Western civilization and the other representing the best of the Oriental civilization.

The Japan Secretary of State of your country, Mr. Shimomura, stated with admirable clearness and force that Japan is the stabilizing force in the Far East. So is the United States in this Western hemisphere. The two great neighboring countries are destined to be good friends in the interests of peace and prosperity on the Pacific, for they are predominant factors in the development of world affairs on the Pacific and can only "live and let live" by mutual understanding and friendly co-operation.

Thus, the real relations of our two peoples, political, economical and social, are bound to develop and increase more and more as years go by. Who, then, are to be the leaders and leading factors in such growing intimacy and intimate relations of commerce and industry as well as of culture and politics between our two nations? No other people than yourselves are best qualified for this most important and interesting mission.

To accomplish this task, however, you must realize clearly that only 100 percent Americanization is not enough. If a 100 percent American is the only requirement, why should they prefer the Japanese second generation to other people who may perhaps more readily attain 100 percent Americanism. The reason why the Japanese second or third generations may be needed from such particular enterprises must lie in the peculiar quality they develop by acquiring the knowledge of the Japanese language and of the conditions of that country through their study and contact with the Japanese people.

"My Experience"
There is no need to emphasize here what kind of a country Japan is and what is the value of Japanese life as a nation whose experiences have been trained and tried for centuries after centuries. However, I cannot help telling you just one thing. I am convinced through my personal experience at the League of Nations Conference at Geneva last year where more than fifteen nations met together and also at the recent Naval Conference in London where the five greatest naval Powers of the world got together around the table that Japan stands now at the foremost front of the family of nations as one of the five or three greatest Powers of the world, and she is generally recognized as such.

With such a country as your background and with such a civilization as your resource of culture, in addition to your 100 percent Americanism, you are peculiarly qualified for the special task I referred to and are destined to play

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10.—The music lovers of Sacramento were charmed by Madame Takane Nambu during her recital sponsored by the Aoki Music Co. on Thursday evening, October 9th. With Miss Alice Mayeda at the piano, Madame Nambu sang many songs in French, Italian, German, English and Japanese. Those in Japanese were especially applauded by the audience, who filled the Showa Hall. In between the songs, piano selections were rendered by Misses Aiko Aoki and Alice Mayeda and Japanese odoris by Miss Sachiko Hori were also appreciated by those present.

Plans are now being made for Madame Nambu's recitals in other Northern California cities. The Fujin Kai of Walnut Grove is to sponsor her recital on October 24th at the Kawasano Hall. On the 19th, Madame Nambu is to appear in Stockton, while on the 30th she is to sing in Lodi.

MRS. BOWEN TO BE HONORED
Mrs. Mary Bowen, former pastor of the Japanese Independent church on 6th street in this city, will be honored by local Japanese residents "Iro-kai" party to be held at the Presbyterian church on Friday, October 24.

Mrs. Bowen is at present 81 years old. She retired from her pastorate this summer and is leading a quiet life in her home near Brothers' college. She built the Independent church and led it for 30 or more years, it is reported. More than 80 Japanese are said to have been baptized by the woman pastor.

Nichibeis Swimming Match Is Planned

TOYKO, Oct. 13.—Sometime in the early part of next August the Japan Swimming Association will sponsor a Nichibeis swimming match and leading American swimmers will be invited to compete at the events. This was decided at the director's meeting of the Swimmers' League which was held yesterday.

CLAM DIGGING
Number Three
One bright morning my brother Thomas asked my cousin, Matsuye and me if we would like to go clam digging. Of course we did, so he told us to pack our lunches and bring three forks. We did more than that. We brought our bathing suits.

After lunch there we returned to the beach. This time we went in the water and began digging with our forks but in vain because the clams were too small there. Thomas said, "Let's go near the pier on the other side." So we went.

There were many people there. There was a man who dug eight large clams. You see, the clams should be over five inches in diameter or you will be liable to arrest and $25 fine. I dug many times but the clams were all too small. Matsuye and I were not good clam diggers. My brother was the only one in the group who got any and we built a fire on the beach and played and dried ourselves. Thomas dug about 20 more after that. Towards evening the water became too cold so we went home.

Marquis Tokugawa Donates Heirlooms to City of Nagoya

(Special To The Japanese American News)
TOKYO, Oct. 12.—Marquis Yoshichika Tokugawa recently donated a collection of antique and priceless family heirlooms to the city of Nagoya. Tokugawa Iyeyasu, the founder of the Tokugawa shogunate, originally came from the Komaki-yama district.

In making the gift to the city, Marquis Tokugawa made the statement that the family and name of the Tokugawa may perish but the city of Nagoya will not and that he deemed it best that the treasures be kept by the city for future generations.

Keio-Waseda U. Ball Game Causes Big Commotion

(Special To The Japanese American News)
TOKYO, Oct. 13.—The Keio Waseda baseball games, which are scheduled to be held October 19, 20 are always crowded to overflowing and it has become a big problem as to how to sell the tickets. Last year the tickets were sold by lot but it was a failure due to the dissatisfaction of those who have no luck in such things. This year it has been decided to let the students of the two schools sell the tickets before the game but the problem is still far from unsolved for the populace is shouting its disapproval. Students are not the only ones who enjoy ball games, it is claimed, and the public should be given a chance at the tickets.

Waseda Ball Team Downs Meiji Men

350 Participate In Huge State-Wide Tournament

Nearly 2500 Japanese thronged the local Dreamland hall Sunday to witness a state-wide kendo tournament which was sponsored by the Pacific Coast kendo association, backed by the local Butokukai.

More than 350 kendo enthusiasts took part in the competition. Among the participants were about 30 of the fair sex. The contest came to a close about 10:30 p. m. In the boys' group, Watsonville carried home the pennant and in the young men's group, the pennant went to the Salinas group. H. Ashizawa, 2nd rank man, won in the instructors' group, and was awarded a real Japanese sword.

BIG AIRLINE TO BE BUILT

Berlin Bagdad Hongkong Japan Line Is Proposed

(Special To The Japanese American News)
TOKYO, Oct. 13.—According to reports from the Aeronautics bureau of the department of Communications, there will soon be an airline from Berlin to Japan by way of Baghdad and Hongkong. The only question to be decided now is for Japan to choose the route from Hongkong to Japan. The Foreign department has already been instructed to send word of acceptance to Germany.

The Aeronautics bureau is in receipt of a proposition from Germany to take part in a chain of airlines to establish air communication from Berlin to Japan. Germany proposes to build her share of the route from Berlin to Baghdad. G. Britain will build from Baghdad to Hongkong. Japan is now considering whether to route the airline from Hongkong to Formosa and then to Pukuoka, or Hongkong to Japan by way of Shanghai. Most likely, the latter will be chosen on account of the commercial importance of Shanghai.

JUNIOR ARTICLES FOR WRITING CONTEST

"Lo, niece and nephews mine!" Today we will take up the Junior articles.—Right. Let's start. We must be careful with space today.
VISITING A BEAUTY SPOT IN THE SAGEBRUSH LAND.
Number One.
Dusk was approaching when we arrived to see the beauty of the blue, Blue Lake, of which so many people had spoken with so much admiration. Of course we did, so he told us to pack our lunches and bring three forks. We did more than that. We brought our bathing suits.

After lunch there we returned to the beach. This time we went in the water and began digging with our forks but in vain because the clams were too small there. Thomas said, "Let's go near the pier on the other side." So we went.

There were many people there. There was a man who dug eight large clams. You see, the clams should be over five inches in diameter or you will be liable to arrest and $25 fine. I dug many times but the clams were all too small. Matsuye and I were not good clam diggers. My brother was the only one in the group who got any and we built a fire on the beach and played and dried ourselves. Thomas dug about 20 more after that. Towards evening the water became too cold so we went home.

We gave some to our neighbors. Now he won't go near the chicken yard. Brownie and I are great friends. Didn't you love that, everybody? Now let's see the fifth article.
A SUMMER DAY
Number Five.
It is a summer day. I am sitting by the side of a little stream under a big pine tree. The pine tree stands on the edge of a small clearing and all around are big mountains covered with pine trees. From where I sit I can see the minnows playing in the stream. I have sat still for so long that they do not know that I am here. If I reach out my hands I can pick the lovely red strawberries. They are growing wild all around me. Up in the branches above me a bluejay chattered noisily but now he is gone and everything is quiet. The day is warm and everything seems so still. There is an owl somewhere in the forest. He is saying "whooooo—whoooo" in a very sleepy voice. Somewhere there is a woodpecker. First I thought it was someone hammering but now I think it must be a woodpecker making a hole in a tree. On a stump across the stream a chipmunk is eating his nut while he looks at me. I am very sleepy.
Brownie does not like some cats. He likes Tommy, our tom-cat. Brownie and Tommy sleep together, but they don't like to eat together because Brownie eats too fast for Tommy, maybe. Brownie doesn't like any other cats. He will chase them a mile every time he sees them.
The other day our hen came out of the nest with 12 little chicks. I thought they were lovely. Brownie did, too. He went to play with the chickens but the mama hen didn't like it. She pecked him badly and
