CORRESPONDENT asks of Dorothy Dix, "Do you think the boys and girls of today are going to the dogs?"—And this is the answer of Miss Dix: "No. Certainly not. Far from it. Of course, they are doing plenty of wrong and foolish things, but so have every other generation of youngsters, and they will somehow muddle through as all their predecessors have done, and in the end make the kind of men and women that carry on civilization, even as their forefathers and mothers have done."—Exactly!—This much discussed "second generation problem" isn't so exclusively second generation, after all. We can't begin to pretend to have the monopoly, it seems.

Summer is almost here and with it comes the annual rodeo with their bustling broncos and colorful cowboys and cowgirls and reminders of the West of the past. The tenderfoot of today will gape at the feats with horse and rope in rapid admiration secretly feeling glad in his heart that he does not have to do such hazardous tricks.—And then, he will go home from the rodeo performing still greater wonders with his rooster as he threads the heavy traffic at the risk of not only his life and limb but hundreds of others besides. Why, the cowboy is a piker compared to our modern machine riders!

Over in Angels Camp they just staged a frog jumping contest. Just weiser-Fischer Stable, a froggie from Stockton, won the derby by jumping 11 feet 5 inches.—Now what?

The British Air Force has abandoned its base at Lake Bahianya near Bagdad.—Why?—Kindly read the following: "The site of the intended camp was found to swarm with myriads of snakes which carried germs of the disease, Bilharzias, which British troops during the world war dubbed 'Bill Harris'. It is more commonly known as Schistosomiasis.—Well, well, well! Isn't that too bad."

JUNIOR AND SENIOR CLUB

"To everybody! Today auntie is having a special attack of spring fever or something of other and as luck would have it, here is Brownie Yamashita himself with another one of his strangely appealing stories. So let's listen to Brownie as he tells us a story, shall we?"

NEW HOPE

By Brownie Yamashita
"Squid" Torrece was a failure—a miserable failure. No one knew it better than himself as he sat on the empty park bench brooding over the past. He had been MR. TORRENCE then, but now he was just plain Squid.

A wave of self pity brought the stars brimming into his eyes. It quickly gave way to furious anger as he thought of his "friends."

"The blood sucking leeches!" he almost screamed at the bench post. God! How considerate and kind they were as long as his money lasted! What a blind fool he had been!

Squid mumbled incoherent curses. His thin frame shook with suppressed fury. From the bottom of his heart he cursed his "friends," and the stock market crash that had wiped him clean.

Suddenly he bowed his face into his hands and sobbed.—long, convulsive sobs of a despairing, broken man.

Something touched his greying head. Squid jerked up with an oath on his lips but it choked back as he found himself gazing into a pair of larkspur blue eyes.
