BRITISHERS CRUSH JAPAN IN NET TILT

Loses in Singles Cup Tourney But Still Hope in Doubles

EASTBOURNE, England, June 13.—After having waded through all opposition in bang-up style so far, Japan's Davis Cup team went down to defeat here Friday for the first time when they met the English contenders in the opening matches of the European zone semi-finals.

H. W. "Bunny" Austin, veteran internationalist, defeated Hyotaro Satoh 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. Jiro Satoh, in the other match of the day, fell before F. J. Perry, Britain's new star, only after coping one set and losing two other in hard-fought extra-set encounters, the final scores being 6-1, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5.

This does not eliminate the Japanese team from further participation in the international play-off, provided the doubles team makes a clean sweep of its matches being played today. But with the hopes for the singles victory now gone by the boards, chances for a decisive win in the doubles seem decidedly remote.

ART EXHIBIT TO COME HERE

Japanese Art to Be Featured in Gallery

An Oriental art exhibit of international importance will be held in San Francisco in the near future, according to T. Z. Shiota, Japanese authority on fine arts, who sailed for home on the liner Tatsuta Maru Thursday.

The Japanese government and private collectors of Japan have already expressed their desire to cooperate in the exhibition which will bring many ancient masterpieces in painting and sculpture to America for the first time.

The Legion of Honor palace will be the first gallery to hold the display, said Shiota.

Shiota's private collection includes Japanese ukiyo-e or woodblock prints of the Edo period, ivory carvings, and original color prints. Shiota is the authority who created a mild sensation here recently when he gave a series of lectures tending to show that the Ukiyo school, hitherto thought to be a purely indigenous school of art, in reality received much indirect influence from the Italian Renaissance painters.

KAWASAKI DISCHARGES EMPLOYEES

3000 Men to Lose Jobs at Kobe Plant

KOBE, June 13.—The Kawasaki Dockyards, one of the largest ship-building works in the world, is discharging three thousand workers, it is reported. The plant, a world-wide depression is being blamed for the action.

The shipbuilding trade has been particularly hard hit, and the company is said to have very few orders outstanding, necessitating the reduction of its force. Steamship lines are not ordering any new ships at present, many of the companies being forced even to forgo their dividend payments.

The Kawasaki works, lining the waterfront just southeast of Kobe for several miles, is by far the largest industrial plant in the Kobe district, and has had the enviable honor of having built most of Japan's finest liners and men-of-war.

The company also builds locomotives, automobiles, and airplanes. More than 20,000 workers are normally employed at the plant, and the effect of the present wholesale discharge is being noted with some concern. The Kawasaki works is famous as having been the center of the greatest strike in the history of Japanese labor which occurred in 1921 and which first brought Toyohiko Kagawa to the fore as a national figure.

IDEAL SECOND GENERATION MATE TOPIC OF DISCUSSION IN CORRESPONDENT'S STORY

(Editor's Note:—Evidently the columnists of this paper are not the only ones who in their moments of weakness inflame opinions about ideal second generation mates on their readers. Here is a contribution on the eternally interesting but dangerous subject by one of our correspondents who prefers to dodge all risk by appearing under the nom de plume of "T.M.O.")

"How come so popular—why does she rate?" inquired a youth about a certain "Big Rate Woman" of the younger set.

"Personality!" "Sociability!" "Not a snob!" chorused the rest of the Dal Nissels around the campfire gab-fest.

They were seriously discussing this matter of popularity and some interesting facts were revealed by both the boys and the girls. With most people, and especially with boys, good looks was the first attraction. Then personality and "form" (punctiliousness) were a close second. The girls raved about personality but everybody agreed that it was hard to define. People are born with it—yet anyone can cultivate a charming and attractive personality. How?

MOVIE STAR PRESIDES AT JAPAN NIGHT CELEBRATION

Geographic Society Features Japan in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—With a colorful crowd of motion picture stars, second generation girls in Japanese costumes, and learned scholars and public men in attendance, the Japan Night celebration of the Pacific Geographic society took place at the Hotel Biltmore here Friday evening. More than 400 people attended.

Conrad Nagel, motion picture star and president of the American Academy of Art, flourishing an old Japanese clapper for a gavel, was the toastmaster. The program was featured by a Japanese dance by the Iutsuya ballet accompanied by an orchestra of Japanese instruments. Miss Kyo Inouye rendered a solo.

Consul Satow, Prof. Nakazawa of the University of Southern California, and Miss Tsuya Takao of the Y.W.C.A. were the Japanese speakers appearing on the program.

The weekly sponsors a marble playing contest, an also a baseball team, composed of the following players: Teddy Iida, c; Ichiro, Albert, and Joe, p; Kiyosuke, 1b; Tatsuo Nakamoto, 2b; Kenji Takahashi, 3b; Bill Wright, ss; Albert Iida, lf; John Swearingin, cf; and Shin-taro Hara, rf.

Japanese Art Pupil in Watsonville High Voted 1st in Contest

WATSONVILLE, June 13.—In the recent modernistic contest conducted by the art department of the local high school under the direction of Miss Waite, art director, Miss Beatrice Hayashi won the first awards in the vote by the classes.

The winning picture was called "Stags at Eve," a college motif. The second picture by the same artist was a United States, Hawaii and Japanese travel scene.

Vacaville School Holds Graduation

VACAVILLE, June 13.—The Vacaville Japanese language school held its graduation and promotion exercise at the local Buddhist hall yesterday.

That too was difficult to explain.

"Anyway, it means being kind, thoughtful, sociable, unobnoxious, and friendly to all," they declared.

"Goat-getters," "pest," and "non-rates" are the snobs, egotists ("always talking about self"), bores and quick-tempered people. "Anyone can learn to control one's temper—there is no excuse for it."

All the boys were unanimously agreed upon their dislike of make-up, especially a too noticeable evidence of rouge and lipstick. A girl looks "hot" and "cheap" they chanted.

"The girls retaliated by announcing very positively that 'every single handsome or good-looking boy is vain and an insufferable ego!'" However, both were sure that character is the most important item in anyone's make-up. As one fellow said, "You hafta be good in the inside cause sooner or later its bound to show on the outside."

Strength and nobility of character may be acquired through self-training, and modeling after your ideal person—be it best friend; mother, father; an older man or woman of remarkable personality and character; a hero—such as Lincoln,

Christ, etc.

"Looks always comes first, but personality is a strong factor for popularity. The wicked attractive person is a combination of weak character and lovable personality, both good people and bad people may be blessed with a striking personality. Of course the ideal combination is good character and personality. So often a person may have a wonderful character but is 'dead' and uninteresting as far as fact triangle is: good looks, good personality, and charming personality—the Ideal Girl and the Ideal Boy!"

Money, social position, education, popularity, brains, a ritzy car, and brains were also considered. In the girls' opinion "brains" in a fellow tied close second with personality. They all liked "brainy" men, but the boys on the other hand did not care for "too brainy girls"—only an unusually brilliant, brainy and intellectual man admire a clever, brilliant woman.

And so you see, dear readers, that occasionally the modern youth does discuss something else besides the last party or dance!
