CRASHED BY TRAIN, BOY BADLY HURT

Serious Injuries Are Suffered by Youth In Monterey

[Special to Japanese American News] MONTEREY, Mar. 23—Attending physicians announced today that there was no danger to the life of Eiji Takiguchi, 19, prominent local youth, who was seriously injured when hurled from the rails by a passing locomotive Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock near the warehouse of the Presidio.

His left arm, chin, and rear skull were severely battered by the impact. The youth was rushed to a local hospital immediately after the mishap.

The train struck him from the rear while he was walking on the rail, before he had time to evade the fast moving engine.

The youth, eldest son of Takiguchi Kametaro, is vice president of the Monterey Citizens league.

He was pursued by the Japanese and caught in the nearby Astor house.

It was claimed that the papers contained important information. The Japanese subsequently released him.

Wang Ken was educated in the United States, studying at Princeton and Columbia and graduating at West Point in 1918.

He was regarded as a brilliant student in the military academy.

Returning to China, he served in the ministry of war and various important governmental posts. He was a member of the Chinese delegation to the peace conference in Paris in 1919.

Dream Shattered By Filipino, Girl Returns to Tokyo

TOKYO, Mar. 23—Her youthful dreams shattered by grim reality, a pretty Japanese maiden has returned from Manila the victim of broken heart, with a Romeo of the Filipino Far Eastern Olympic team, which caused such a fluttering of girlish hearts in Tokyo two years ago.

Miss Ito Tamenaga has been disillusioned, but is the wiser for it. It took her, however, a trip to find out that romance and reality are often unrelated.

Fails For Cager

Like many other girls, Ito-san found her dream lover in the person of a young member of the Filipino basketball team at the time the Far Eastern games were being held in Tokyo.

After the evening games she strolled with him in the Outer Meiji Shrine garden, like many other girls were doing, oblivious to the consternation of patriotically minded Japanese young men.

Rosy Promises

The Filipino athletes after making rosy promises and vowing fidelity to the infatuated girls, sailed away for home.

For two years Ito-san remained silent as she could in Tokyo although all the while her mind was building airy castles in the Phillipines.

Then came last Christmas, she could not endure her separation from

The Manila of her dreams, however, proved to be quite a different place from what her Romeo had whispered to her.

Everything seemed to her to be better, even "I'm" Her cherished love collapsed like a bubble, with a heavy heart she took a boat back to Japan, where at least she can expect to be married, without too much in return.

I don't care. I wasn't made dumb. Bunny help me to escape! (Bang! Crash!) It's your fault, Chocolate that I bump into Tiny Weenie," scolded Hard Boiled.

"Oh, dear, what will the child who wanted to eat me say," cried Tiny Weenie.

"Oh—O! Whoopie! It is Tiny Weenie's fault. Hand Paint, she replied Hard Boiled.

"Oh, there you go and blame it on me," cried Tiny Weenie.

"Shame! Hand Paint's colors are all kinda rubbed off. Tiny Weenie smashed her. What will happen next?" spoke Hard Boiled.

"Blah! Oh, I hear some one coming. Hide me, Chocolate," asked Hard Boiled after falling on top of Chocolate basket for Alice." came voice.

"Fine. Oh, Alice, come and see what we got for you."

"All right, mother," answered Alice, running down the stairs.

"It's on the stand, Alice," said her father.

"Oh, look at the eggs having a fight," laughed Alice.

"Oh, ho, that's funny. Let's see who's guilty," laughed her father.

"I never knew eggs fought. Oh, Bunny is guilty too! I think they didn't want to be eaten," said Alice.
