WAR CLOUDS SEEN IN NEW ASIA STATUS

Stanford Hears Talk On Japan by Dr. Schurman

PALO ALTO, Mar. 31—The indefinite tenure of the Japanese occupation of Manchuria by Japan has created a new problem, Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, former envoy to China and Germany and retired president of Cornell University, said in an address at a Stanford assembly yesterday.

As a result, Dr. Schurman admitted he had modified the opinion he has held for thirty years that there could be no danger to the United States from Japan.

Formerly, Dr. Schurman asserted, there was no danger from Japan because it was a second or third rate power financially and economically. With Manchuria occupied, Japan controls the most fertile province in China and the province that has the most coal and iron.

Such a condition he indicated, constitutes a threat against the United States.

Most Important
Although Manchuria has now faded from sight in the light of the later developments in Shanghai Dr. Schurman holds that the Japanese occupation of Manchuria is by far the most important.

Japan leaves, things will revert to their former state, if not, a new situation is created for the world," he said.

Later developments do not mean that the Japanese have communicated falsifications to the League of Nations, according to Professor Schurman.

Japan has declared that it has no intention of annexing and that it would withdraw its troops to the railway zone when it becomes safe for their nationals outside of the zone.

Great Skill Shown
One difficulty, Dr. Schurman indicated, was that the League expected that withdrawal to be made within a few weeks.

In the whole Manchurian affair, Japan has gone ahead with great skill, the speaker observed.

"Japan knew that the United States and the European nations would not go to war," he said, "and it later discovered that the League would not use the economic boycott."

CHINESE GIRL IN CHILD SUIT

Cruelty Testimonies Given in Court By Unwed Mother

SAN JOSE, Mar. 31—Tiny children screamed in agony as they underwent incredible punishment inflicted upon them at Mayflower Lodge, Santa Cruz mountain home for unwed mothers.

Salt was rubbed into the tender tissues of one child by Miss Marlene Flowers, head of the home, and another child was forced to sit in a tub of icy water until blue and screaming; children were chained to tables and their heads were bound behind them.

Such was the amazing testimony given in the crowded court of Superior Judge F. P. Gosey in San Jose yesterday as Miss Rose Regis, 22-year-old Chinese girl of Redwood City, plunged into her second fight for the custody of her five-year-old love child.

Ex-Employee Testifies
The child, Robert, is under the guardianship of Miss Flowers. The unwed mother is asking for its custody on the grounds of neglect, cruelty, and depravity.

A previous court action in which she charged that her son had been strapped to a board, naked, with its hands tied, was dismissed in January when Judge F. B. Brown ruled that the accusations had not been proved.

Chairmen presiding Saturday afternoon, Virginia Kadokai; Sunday afternoon, Hiral Hirokawa.

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Mar. 31—Chinese generals led defenders of the Japanese controlled city of Nunguan today as a heavy force of guerrillas attacked from three sides amid a bitter hand to hand fighting.

General Mah Chan Shan, Chinese general who resisted the Japanese when the Manchurian campaign began here last autumn, was among

With Nunguan located close to Changchun, capital of the Japanese puppet republic, the battle was of first importance.

Soviet Activity Charged

Mysterious Writer of Florin alludes the city folk to the country!

"The country is just too beautiful for words."
"Flowers, flowers and some more flowers everywhere you go. Fruit orchards are in full bloom while the meadows and roadsides are surrounded by sweet smelling wild flowers."
"The birds are singing sweetly—mingled by the buzzing of the hard working bees."
"Come on, you city folk, jump into your cars and drive out to the country. It's just like paradise."
"Now Mysterious Writer, we must at least have your address, so that we know where to park our cars when in Florin. Please hurry and let Auntie know your real name and address."
