

Table with 5 columns: Match Day, Group, Score, Winner, and Notes. Contains results for matches from July 4th to 8th.

少年球界の金字塔! 第四回全伯少年野球終了. Article about the 4th All-Brazil Youth Baseball Tournament, mentioning the victory of the Paulista team.

オリム陸上軍顔觸. Article about the Olympic team's performance in track and field events, mentioning a 40-man men's and 6-woman women's team.

男子選手(四十名). List of male athletes participating in the tournament, including names like 高橋正太郎 and 佐藤三郎.

女子選手(六名). List of female athletes participating in the tournament, including names like 小宮悦子 and 三井美代子.

ヨイトン. Advertisement for a swimming pool or water-related facility, mentioning a 50-man men's and 6-woman women's team.

女子水泳界の新星. Article about a new star in women's swimming, mentioning a record set by a swimmer from Paulista.

Auto Viação Sul Paulista. Advertisement for a bus service, listing routes and schedules between various cities.

日の出旅館. Advertisement for a hotel, listing services and contact information for the Paulista branch.

D. SYLVIO MIRAGLIA. Advertisement for a medical clinic, listing various medical services and the doctor's contact details.

音福の者病. Advertisement for a medical clinic, mentioning treatments for various ailments and the clinic's location.

SENIOI & CIA. Advertisement for a company, listing their address and contact information in São Paulo.

AKAKI & CIA. Advertisement for a company, listing their address and contact information in São Paulo.

瀬ノ上商會. Advertisement for a commercial association, listing their address and contact information in São Paulo.

Large advertisement for 'Pó Estomacal TAKA' (Stomach Powder). Features a large vertical headline '胃腸の弱い人は短命' (Weak stomach people have short lives) and detailed text about the benefits of the powder for various stomach ailments.